POLICE COURT CASES AND POLICE NEWS

Auto Tire Thieves Fined by Judge Enright Were Promptly Ar- rested by Methuen Cops

After being found guilty of the larceny of tires and other automobile equipment at Draught and heavily fined in the local court this forenoon, the three Lawrence men apprehended on the Centralville bridge Wednesday night after a wild chase extending over the greater part of Middlesex county, were taken into custody by a Methuen police officer, who claims they stole a tire from a machine in that town.

The young men responded to the names of Arthur J. Lacourse, Frederick J. and Arthur St. Pierre. Each was fined $50 on the complaint charging them with the larceny of a tire, tube, rim and cover from Ross Mereler, a Nashua, N. H. garage proprietor, and

CITY HALL NEWS

This is the Last Day for Certification of Nom- ination Papers

The political pot for the state primaries, which will be held on Sept. 21, will start boiling within a short time, for next Tuesday is the last day for the filing of nomination papers with the secretary of state, and as soon as this formality is gone through with, it is believed a number of candidates will get out on stump work.

The time to have nomination papers certified at the registrars of voters' office expired this afternoon and from 9 o'clock this morning until closing time this afternoon the registrars and the city clerk were kept very busy checking and verifying names on the papers.

The candidates whose papers had been certified at noon are as follows:

Republicans:
Governor: Samuel H. McCall, Winchester, and Grafton H. Cushing, Boston.
Lieutenant governor: Guy A. Ham, Milton.
Auditor: Alonzo B. Cook, Boston, and Edward C. R. Bagley, East Boston.
Sheriff: John R. Fairbairn, Cambridge, and Adelbert B. Messer, Concord Junction.
Treasurer: Joseph O. Hayden, Somerville.
Councilor, 5th district: Henry C. Mulligan, Boston.
County commissioner: Chester B. Williams, Weyland.
Senator, 5th district: George E. Marchand, Lowell, and Amos P. Best, Draught.
Representative, 14th district: Arthur W. Colburn, Draught.
Representative, 15th district: Victor F. Jewett, Lowell; Henry Achin, Jr., Lowell, and Adalard Berard, Lowell.
Representative, 16th district: Fred O. Lewis, Lowell; John Robert Lindsay, Lowell, Freeman S. Hersey, Lowell, and

Democrats:
Sheriff: John J. Donovan, Lowell.
Senator, 8th district: James P. Dunnigan, Chelmsford.
Representative, 14th district: John W. Brennan, Draught.
Representative, 15th district: Dennis A. Murphy, Lowell.
Representative, 16th district: John W. Daly, Lowell; Thomas J. Corbett, Lowell; John J. O'Connell, Lowell; Cornelius J. O'Neill, Lowell; John F. Roane, Jr., Lowell, and William J. Gargan, Lowell.
Representative, 17th district: William L. Crowley, Lowell; Thomas H. Corcoran, Lowell; Joseph H. White, Lowell; Joseph H. Jodoin, Jr., Lowell, and Hercules A. Toupin, Lowell.
Representative, 18th district: John R. Kiggins, Lowell.
William Shaw of Andover street, Andover, has also had nomination papers certified for governor on the progressive and prohibition tickets.

Colony Acting Mayor
Mayor D. J. Murphy and wife will leave Wednesday afternoon for Kennebunk beach, Me., where they will spend a couple of weeks. During his absence Commissioner Carmichael will be acting mayor. On Wednesday forenoon the mayor will attend the annual outing for Lowell's children given at Mountain Rock by Constable John McManus.

The mayor is in receipt of an invitation to attend the formal opening of the Braves' field at Allston, Mass., on Wednesday, Aug. 18. Luncheon will be served at 12:45 o'clock and all the mayors of Massachusetts have been invited as guests of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston. The world's championship pennant will be raised and a ball game will be played between the Boston Braves and the Cardinals of St. Louis. Mayor Murphy will not attend.

Another Petition
It was stated this noon that the residents of Westford street and the Highlands have filed a petition at city hall, asking that the Westford street chemical be repaired and installed in the Westford street station again. This statement, however, could not be verified.

Shower Bath
Commissioner Duncan was greeted with a shower bath upon entering his private office at city hall this morning, but not the kind of bath the commissioner cares for. There was an overflow in the sink in the mayor's toilet room and the water poured through the floor into Commissioner Duncan's office in torrents. City Messenger Monahan was quickly notified of the leak and succeeded in repairing it.

Band Concert
The Sixth Regiment band will give a municipal band concert on the grounds of the Highland club next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

CHALIFOUX'S

MOVED FOR ALLOWING ANTI- FOREIGN DEMONSTRATIONS

Official Notification of Gen. Carranza's Action Reached Washington Today —Pan-American Appeal On Way to Mexico City — Mexicans Cross the Border and Slaughter Cattle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—General Carranza summarily dismissed the mayor of Vera Cruz from office for permitting the recent anti-foreign demonstrations which aroused apprehension of the American government. Official notification of Gen. Carranza's action reached here today. The advice stated that as a result of Carranza's action danger to foreigners had disappeared.

In view of continued re-assuring reports from Vera Cruz it is probable that the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire, now sailing south, will not be ordered to Vera Cruz as was contemplated but will be held at some convenient place for future developments.

PAN AMERICAN APPEAL ON WAY TO MEXICO CITY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Pan-American appeal to all of the Mexican factions calling upon them to end their civil strife was being dispatched from the state department today in original Spanish directly to General Carranza. Villa, governors of states and to other Mexican chiefs. The appeal had been sent in English to the various Latin-American legations in Mexico City to be translated into Spanish for delivery to the military leaders in that vicinity.

The next step in the administration's plan for restoring peace in Mexico will be persistent though friendly efforts to persuade the Mexican leaders who have indicated opposition to the movement to eliminate themselves for the common welfare.

Now that Villa and his adherents have indicated their readiness to join in a peace conference provided the old scientific group is not recognized and that a stable government is established no opposition to the plan is looked for except from the Carranza element, although in many quarters here it is felt that they might acquiesce after giving careful study to the friendly tone of the appeal.

European governments directly interested in Mexico have approved the peace plan, it was said.

CARRANZA SOLDIERS TOOK POSSESSION OF ISLAND

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 14.—Carranza soldiers, it was learned today, temporarily took possession of island number 10 in the Rio Grande for a short time while the Mexican raiding party was at its height a few days ago. This island is large, containing pasturage for considerable stock. American residents of the vicinity, which is near Rio Grande City, 100 miles above here, were mystified by the actions of the Mexican soldiers. The latter finally withdrew from the island.

At Fort Brown, here, the following report, made by vessel officers to an army patrol officer on duty at a small station north of Brownsville, was turned in:

"We met two Mexicans. They tried to escape. We could not identify them, so we left them there."

The hiatus in the narrative needs little elucidation.

Going to the slowness of means of travel and the great distances, the full force of soldiers and rangers ordered out to quell raids did not all reach their assigned places until late yesterday or early today. As now disposed, they make a striking showing at railroad stations. At Harlingen, a big cotton platform is covered with brown army tents.

Mexicans everywhere are visible working in the fields or mixing with the soldiers and rangers at the stations. Mexicans on trains or those who seem to be going any distance by other means of travel are closely

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The American consul at Riga has taken over the British interests there. Ambassador Mayo so reported today from Petrograd but gave no explanation.

INVITES PRESIDENT TO CAMP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood's invitation to President Wilson to visit the citizen soldier camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., reached the White House today. If public business permits, the president probably will accept Gen. Wood's invitation and will address the citizen soldiers. It is practically certain that if the president goes he will speak on national defense.

MADE POSTOFFICE INSPECTORS

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Boston postoffice officials were pleased to learn yesterday of the appointment by Postmaster General Burleson of two Massachusetts men as postoffice inspectors. They are Jerome J. Burke of Haverhill, at present foreman of the mailing division of the postoffice in that city, and William F. Carlin of Peabody, clerk in the Peabody postoffice and secretary of the Peabody school board.

There is a feeling that these men may be fortunate enough to be assigned to the Boston district, where there are now two vacancies caused by recent resignations.

20,000 ITALIANS RETURN HOME

BERNE, Aug. 13, 6.15 p. m.—via Paris, 9.20 p. m.—More than 20,000 Italian civilians in that city, and William F. Carlin of Peabody, clerk in the Peabody postoffice and secretary of the Peabody school board.

There is a feeling that these men may be fortunate enough to be assigned to the Boston district, where there are now two vacancies caused by recent resignations.

BODIES OF THREE MEN FOUND

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 14.—Bodies of three men were found in Long Island sound off Connecticut harbors, yesterday, and each awaits identification.

That at New London is thought to be J. E. Clifford, residence unknown, who is said to have jumped off a Sound steamer Thursday night. The only clue to identity is a fountain pen with the initials "J. E. C."

The body found off this harbor was identified today as that of Edward Moulton, aged 25, of Bridgeport harbor last Saturday while canoeing. A fraternity pin and a triangle emblem were means of identification, as Moulton had been at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. training school. The body was found by a fisherman at a point.

THREATENED RAID ON SUEZ CANAL FRUSTRATED

Germans Continue Rapid East- ward March From Warsaw— Von Mackensen's Forces Gain

The French ministry of marine announced that a threatened raid on the Suez canal had been frustrated through the bombardment by a French cruiser of German ships in Jaffa, where munitions were being made and boats constructed for the proposed operations.

German forces are continuing their rapid eastward march from Warsaw and exerting increasing pressure on both the north and south wings of the Russian army. The situation is causing the question to be raised in capitals of the entente allies whether the Grand Duke Nicholas' forces will be able to hold their second line of defense, with Brest-Litovsk as its center.

Today's German official report shows that Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces have swung northward to a line drawn from Radzyn to Vladova, pressing closer to the Brest-Litovsk stronghold which is about 35 miles north of Vladova. Austro-German forces already had occupied Radzyn.

The German crown prince continues pounding at the French lines in the Argonne. Paris reports an attack last night along the entire front in the Marle-Therese sector which was repulsed. Berlin declares progress was made by the Germans near Martinwerk, in the Argonne region.

The British steamer Cairo and a fishing smack have been sunk by German submarines.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S WAR

NEWS IN BRIEF
FORM
Russians continue to press Germans back in Baltic provinces and claim their central armies are safely withdrawing.
Prince Leopold captures Siedlec and Germans gain slowly in Central and Southern Poland.
Second Austrian submarine sunk by Italians within a week.
Austrian forces penetrate five miles into Italy, but are thrown back over frontier; Italians gain on Mt. Piave.
Paris announces failure of German assaults near Nieuport, Belgium, and in the Argonne.
Berlin reports French attacks on Martinwerk, recently captured, were repelled.
Sixteenth Zeppelin attack on England kills six persons; total dead now 76.
British official's statement indicates cotton will be declared contraband.

STEADY PROGRESS FOR FORCES OF PRINCE LEOPOLD EAST OF WARSAW

LONDON, Aug. 14, 12.30 p. m.—Steady progress for the forces of Prince Leopold of Bavaria eastward from Warsaw is taken here to indicate that the Germans are now massing their main movements on a drive through the Russian center and the north, along the Dvina. Both Petrograd and Berlin agree that the Germans have occupied the towns of Sokolow, Siedlec and Lukow, forming a German front about 60 miles east of Warsaw and 50 miles wide.

This is more than half way to Brest-Litovsk, which Grand Duke Nicholas the Russian commander in chief hoped to make the new center of his defense, it is now regarded as probable that this point will be abandoned, owing to the speed of the German advance since the fall of Warsaw and the continued pressure of the armies of Generals Gallitz, Scholz, Eichenhorn and Flack, forming a semi-circle closing in toward the north.

Petrograd claims that the Germans have been checked between Poneviesch and Dvinsk. Berlin, however, does not concede this, but in any event it does not affect the advance of the flanks further north, where invading forces several days ago were along the Dvina, the historic dividing line to the province of Pskov which lies on the road to Petrograd. For the moment, however, the intensity of the fighting is giving way to a scramble of the retreating forces to avoid the enveloping net and the rapid advance of the Germans to gather the full fruits of the fall of Warsaw.

The outcome of these movements probably will be indicated within a few days—whether Grand Duke Nicholas will be able to resume the offensive along the new front, or will concentrate his energies in rear guard fighting during a slow retirement.

RUSSIANS DESTROY TOWNS

German correspondents accompanying the invading armies say the Russians are following the tactics of the Napoleonic campaign, laying waste the country which they abandon, so that the advancing Germans find in the smoking ruins of towns and villages the same lack of shelter as when Napoleon marched to Moscow.

Operations in the western field have virtually been halted, except for occasional local trench skirmishes.

WAR CLOUDS OVER BALKANS

War clouds continue to gather over the Balkans. A Central News despatch from Amsterdam reports that Germany is preparing for eventualities by transporting 40,000 troops from Warsaw to the Serbian frontier.

WEDDING AT NEWPORT

MARGARET FRANCES ANDREWS MARRIED TO MORGAN BELMONT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—Miss Margaret Frances Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews of Newport and Boston, was married this afternoon to Mr. Morgan Belmont, youngest son of Mr. August Belmont, at the home of the bride's parents, on Bellevue avenue. An aisle formed of blue hydrangeas and orange colored lilies, and the bride's train was carried by a party to the altar in the drawing room. Like flowers in silver vases were the only other decorations.

The ceremony was conducted by Bishop T. P. Duran of Providence and Rev. James T. Ward of St. Mary's. There were about a hundred and fifty guests. The bride's gown was extremely simple, the plainest seen here in years. It was of white tulle, slightly hooped, made in three bouffes over petticoat of white satin with scalloped edge and bands of rose point lace at knees and hip. The veil was edged with white tulle. The bride's train was carried by Miss Dorothy Wells, Rhoda Fulham, Angelica Brown, Hannah Randolph, Marie Fuller, Dorothy Gordon King, Ethel Hahn, Carolyn Hubert, Katherine Porter and Helina Fish. She was given away by her father while the groom was attended by his brother, Raymond.

WHEAT QUESTION

Discussed by the British Cabinet—Why Orders Were Cancelled

LONDON, Aug. 14, 10:47 a. m.—The cabinet is considering important recommendations concerning the supply of food, particularly wheat, made by the commission appointed in June by the earl of Selborne, president of the board of agriculture, with Lord Milner as chairman. The nature of the report is guarded closely but it is intimated that the recommendations include plans to increase the home grown supply of wheat by guaranteeing to producers a minimum price for their product.

The Times urges the government to act promptly, pointing out that farmers are gathering the present harvest and must decide on the uses of their land in the coming season. It adds: "There is probably ground for conjecture that the recommendations involve a guarantee to farmers of a minimum price for wheat for a period long enough to justify them in putting a larger acreage under cultivation. Whether this step is worth taking must depend to some extent on the view taken by the government of the probable risk to imported supplies."

Owing to the magnitude of wheat importations from America, the action of the cabinet on the recommendations of the commission probably will have a considerable bearing upon the overseas trade. The fact that the government is considering the wheat question is suggested as a possible reason for the reported cancellations of orders for wheat from America by the centennial allies.

A man, unable to speak English, was taken in the ambulance to St. John's hospital last night suffering from injuries sustained when he fell from a freight car near the Middlesex street station. A scalp wound and several bruises were treated. The man worked at the United States Carriage shops and it is thought was riding home on the freight. It was learned from friends of the injured man that his name is Hassan and he resides on Middlesex street, above the depot.

SEEK MASKED BANDIT

FORCED 10-YEAR-OLD GIRL TO GIVE HIM FOOD IN ESSEX—OTHER HOLDUPS

ESSEX, Aug. 14.—The police are trying to run down the masked bandit who entered the store of J. J. Ellis on Southern avenue and at the point of a revolver demanded and secured food from the proprietor. He may also be implicated in two other holdups.

Later in the day a man held up Ralph Low at Laketown, Essex Falls, near the home of Charles Foster, but Low, mounted on a bicycle, managed to get away before the hold-up man could get into action.

BIG MEN OF COUNTRY LEARN USE OF RIFLE

IN INSTRUCTION CAMP AT PLATTSBURG, N. Y.

SCENES IN MILITARY INSTRUCTION CAMP, PLATTSBURG, N. Y.

Congress may hear from the hundreds of business and professional men who are encamped in Plattsburgh, N. Y. with the military instruction school. The movement is taking on the complexion of unofficial inquiry into this country's preparedness. Every regular army instructor possessing knowledge of the armament situation is cross examined in and out of "school hours" on the methods of getting men in emergency; of how quickly men and munitions can be transferred from one point to another; of the number of men quartered at different army camp; of the number of rifles and guns and the amount of ammunition that could be supplied in the event of war. The thirty regular army officers engaged in instruction work are large standing army because of the experience. In the accompanying illustration are shown George W. Pepper, one of the leading lawyers of Philadelphia, practicing with a rifle. The other two pictures show some of the leading men of the country getting lessons from regular army men in the business of war.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Blissen, of Ballie, Conn., and formerly of this city, are the guests of Mr. H. A. Raelson at 41 Middlesex street. The couple lived here some 43 years ago, Mr. Blissen at that time being a band and orchestra conductor.

The following members of the Wisteria Girls' club will spend the next two weeks at the Bay View cottage, Salisbury beach: Misses Mae Cavanaugh, Ethel Smith, Alice Sullivan, Mary Kullum, Teresa David, Anna Burrows, Mae Kelley and Catherine Delmore.

5 DROWNED IN A WEEK THE TROLLEY STRIKE

LAWRENCE HAS HAD A FATALITY A DAY—BOY OF FIVE PERISHED YESTERDAY

LAWRENCE, Aug. 14.—Lawrence has had a drowning fatality every day this week. Yesterday afternoon Thomas Haphry, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Haphry, 49 Main street, was drowned in Sutton's mill pond at North Andover.

He was dipping water from the pond with a beach ball, when he lost his balance and fell in. His 3-year-old brother, James, who was with him ran home and informed his mother of the accident. The body was recovered in the mill raceway an hour later.

Monday the body of Thomas Molloy, a mill operative, was taken from the river. The day was the anniversary of the drowning of his son, William, and the death of his wife, some years ago.

Tuesday, Walter V. Moore, 16, of Lowell, who was visiting relatives in South Lawrence, lost his life in the Merrimack river, after accepting a "dare" from an unknown man, who taunted him because he could not swim.

Wednesday, John McPate, 8, of South Lawrence was drowned while swimming in the Shawheen river. The body of Joseph Perry, 6, of 229 Irving avenue, who fell off the Farmers' cooperative bridge into the Spicket, last Thursday afternoon, was found floating in the river a quarter of a mile away yesterday afternoon.

PLANTED SUFRAGE TREE

97TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY OF LUCY STONE BLACKWELL CELEBRATED

WORCESTER, Aug. 14.—A large delegation of suffragists from all over Massachusetts, headed by the state president of the Suffrage association, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, gathered at Cor's Hill today to celebrate the 97th birthday anniversary of Lucy Stone Blackwell, the pioneer suffragist of Massachusetts.

The unveiling of a bronze tablet on the house where she was born was made by her daughter, Miss Blackwell, and a suffrage tree was planted. The speakers included Mrs. Judith Smith, a contemporary of Lucy Stone, Miss Blackwell, Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Boston and Miss Sara de Pont of Ohio.

R. R. LOSS $1,600,000

RESULT OF INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION DECISION ON HARD COAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—While $5,000,000 is a fair estimate of the loss of revenue the anthracite roads books will show as a result of Thursday's decision of the interstate commerce commission, reducing the tariffs on anthracite, the commission has no idea that the actual loss to the roads will be anything like that sum.

The commission's decision makes it plain, that disregarding the technicalities of bookkeeping and the artificial distinctions between the roads and the coal companies which they own, the loss to roads will be only one-fifth of the great total, or about $1,000,000 a year in revenue.

NATIONAL ROWING REGATTA

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 14.—The ability of the Duluth oarsmen to make another sweep of the river and the chances of Robert Dibble of Toronto for another championship in single sculls were the principal topics for discussion by the experts at the regatta gathered today for the final events of the national rowing regatta on the Connecticut river. The weather continued of the best with clear sky and only a faint breeze.

The championship single sculls was set for 8:30 p. m. Two hours earlier the senior association sculls was called, and the winner of this event was to qualify to compete for the championship with Dibble and John R. Kelly of Philadelphia.

George Tierney, 21, his sister, Miss Theresa Tierney, 21, and Miss Margaret Tierney were also injured.

RANAWAY ENGINE AM. WOOLLEN CO.

Ran Into a Passenger Train in Fitchburg—Two People Injured

FITCHBURG, Aug. 14.—A runaway locomotive on the Boston and Maine railroad, moving at 80 miles an hour and increasing its speed at every mile, crashed into the rear of No. 23, a west-bound passenger train, about a quarter of a mile west of the station here last night.

Two people were injured. James A. White of Waltham, baggage master, received a sprained left ankle and bruises of the body, and Edwin J. Wadsworth of North Leominster, who occupied a seat in the second coach from the rear, was taken to the office of a physician with an injury to his spine and back.

That others were not injured was due to the warning of W. H. Roberts, the rear-end brakeman on the train, who, when he saw the locomotive coming, ordered all of the passengers in the rear coach to move up forward in the train.

Several of the passengers were thrown from their seats, but all who were seen after the collision stated that they were not injured, except Wadsworth.

The runaway locomotive buried itself in the coach before it stopped. The water tank of the locomotive on the passenger train was punctured and the baggage car was damaged. None of the cars left the track.

SUFFS SCORN HOODOO

BIG OFFING AT LEXINGTON PARK—NOTABLE SPEAKERS AND OPEN-AIR BANQUET

It was hot. Like yesterday was Friday. And incidentally it was the 13th of the month.

But there were more trivial incidents to the suffragists. They turned out at Lexington park yesterday in a way that showed that they scorned the weather and would pooh-pooh at any old superstition.

The occasion was the outing of the Cambridge Equal Suffrage club, and the members flaunted their flags of yellow against the green background with enthusiasm.

Miss Mary Ware Allen, president of the club, presided, and the first speaker in the afternoon program was Roger S. Starnes, former assistant attorney general.

He was followed by Miss Susan Walker Fitzgerald, secretary of the National Women's Suffrage association, and Edward E. Wallace, counsel for the state board of labor and industry.

After the program for the afternoon was completed, the men played ball. A banquet was served in the open air at 6, and was followed by speeches from Secretary of State Albert P. Langtry, Guy E. Ham of the governor's council, ex-Attorney General Thomas Spencer, first vice president of the Cambridge Equal Suffrage club.

SUNK BY SUBMARINES

BRITISH STEAMER CAIRO AND FISHING SMACK ANETHYST ARE LOST

LONDON, Aug. 14, 12:03 p. m.—The British steamer Cairo and the fishing smack Anethyst have been sunk by submarines. The crews were saved.

There are two British vessels named Cairo, a brigantine and a steamship. The steamship Cairo is mentioned in maritime records.

DENIES OFFER TO RUSSIA

GERMAN PAPER CONTRADICTS REPORT OF OFFER OF DARDANELLES FOR PEACE

LONDON, Aug. 14, 9.50 a. m.—Reports that Germany has made overtures to Russia for a separate peace by offering to Russia a free use of the Dardanelles are contradicted by the Hamburg Nachrichten, according to a Reuters despatch from Amsterdam.

Germany does not own the Dardanelles and cannot offer them to anybody, declares the Nachrichten. "They are the property of the Turks who for five months have proved that they know how to defend them. The German empire does not betray its allies."

JOHN E. HARPER DEAD

WAS LAST SURVIVOR OF FAMOUS HARPER BROTHERS, MAGAZINE PUBLISHERS

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 14.—John E. Harper of New York, last survivor of the famous Harper brothers, publisher of City Hall, on Friday, August 27th, 1915 at 11 o'clock a. m. for the work of reconstructing Memorial Building, which was partially destroyed by fire in March of the present year.

No proposal will be received previous to 9 a. m. or after 11 a. m. on the day above stated.

The work of reconstruction will be let in seven separate contracts, as follows:

1. Mason, stone and brickwork.
2. Structural steel for roof and fire escapes.
3. Carpenter work.
4. Electric wiring.
5. Plastering.
6. Plumbing.
7. Marble tablets.

According to plans and specifications furnished by Fred W. Stickney and Harry Prescott Graves, Associated Architects.

Each proposal must be made on a blank form which can be procured at the office of the Building Department and in the specifications for the work. Conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract, as required by plans and specifications.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the Building Department, the office of the Architects and at the rooms of the Master Builders' Association.

The Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to accept the proposal which he deems to be the best interest of the City of Lowell.

Per Order,
NEWELL P. PITTMAN,
Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses.

STOCKS NON-TAXABLE IN the State of Massachusetts

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Holders of the shares of American Woollen company living in Massachusetts will be pleased to learn that the management has decided to reincorporate the company under Massachusetts laws. It means a saving for the holder in his taxes and places the stocks in a position to be taken advantage of by trustees who are accustomed to buy non-taxable securities.

This proposed change from New Jersey to Massachusetts, it is understood, has long been under consideration by the chief officials of the American Woollen company. It was in Massachusetts that the company had its origin in the famous old Washington Mills of Lawrence.

The executive officers have always been maintained in Boston, and the 16 plants of the present organization that are located in various Massachusetts cities and towns include the largest plants and a great proportion of the most valuable machinery and stock in process of the company. Massachusetts laws, under the pressure of constant agitation by business interests, have recently been made more favorable in many respects to large business undertakings holding its charters, at the same time that New Jersey laws have become less favorable.

A considerable proportion of the stockholders of the American Woollen company are residents of Massachusetts, where these great mills are located, while the capital stock held by these Massachusetts residents is taxed also. This is in effect an onerous double taxation, which will no longer have to be borne when the American Woollen company becomes a Massachusetts corporation. The relief of so great a proportion of the entire American Woollen stock from double taxation in Massachusetts cannot but affect favorably these securities as a whole, and thereby bring substantial benefits to stockholders resident in other states.

Naturally, the American Woollen company, a Massachusetts concern in its dominant location and ownership, should be in fact a Massachusetts corporation, as it undoubtedly would be if organized at the present time, when the Bay State, without abating what is really sound in its traditional conservatism, has found it advantageous to make its laws more hospitable to domestic business enterprises. Under the new circumstances a Massachusetts charter both carries benefits and confers prestige, and is in the interest not merely of Massachusetts stockholders but of all the stockholders in this country and abroad.

PRISONER ESCAPES

Frank Heffron's Release From Concord Reformatory Was Nearly Due—Was a Model Prisoner

CONCORD, Mass., Aug. 14.—Frank Heffron, aged 22, sentenced to the state reformatory here on December 17, 1914, for an indeterminate period for larceny in Boston, escaped yesterday afternoon while working on the farm.

Heffron was a model prisoner who had many privileges and for 5 months had been a "trustee." Those in authority say that he was soon due for release and they cannot see why he should break away at this time.

When the usual gang Heffron was working a large section on the farm yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock. Not until 3 was his absence noted.

A general alarm was sounded and all the prisoners were turned in and kept under the surveillance of a few guards while large numbers of armed men went on a search for Heffron

ATTACK ON SUEZ CANAL IN CHARGE OF CAMP

FRENCH CRUISER THWARTED
PLAN OF GERMANS TO MAKE
ATTACK

PARIS, Aug. 14, 11.25 a. m.—A plan for an attack on the Suez canal is said by the ministry of marine today to have been detected and thwarted. Announcement was made in the following statement:

"On August 12, after warning had been given to the governor of Jaffa and time given for the evacuation of the vicinity, a French cruiser bombarded and destroyed the principal building of the shops of the German Wagner, which were making guns and munitions and constructing boats destined for an attack on the Suez canal. The houses in the vicinity were not damaged."

IN POLICE COURT

$25 for attending the fire and cover from Wilfred Blouin's machine which was outside his camp at Willow Dale. They were represented by Attorney Mahoney of Lawrence.

The story of the chase which began at Lakewood park and wound up on Bridge street after passing through Lowell, East Chelmsford, Billerica, Burlington, Woburn, Wilmington and Tewksbury was related by Mr. Morcier. At one time during the chase, said the young man, they saw several tires in the rear of the Lawrence machine and so were very persistent in following them until an investigation was made. He said the property stolen from his car was valued at about $10, but on account of being an automobile dealer, he could purchase it for approximately $25.

Wilfred Blouin, who resides at 131 White street, but has a camp at Willow Dale, left his machine in the rear of his camp Wednesday night and the next morning discovered that a tire was missing. He identified a tire said to have been taken from the defendant's machine as the one stolen from his car. A horn was also taken, he said, but recovered by the police.

Attorney Mahoney appealed to the court for leniency on account of the past records of the young men, none having ever been arrested before. Lacourse, a Lawrence vegetable dealer, is married and his wife, a cripple, appeared in the court room this morning. Judge Enright said he had intended to give the three young men direct sentences to the Massachusetts reformatory but on account of the words spoken in their behalf by Mr. Mahoney, he would impose fines instead. Lacourse paid his $75 immediately and the others were given one week in which to collect the collateral.

Nickel Calls $5

For evading payment of car fare while under the influence of liquor was responsible for the presence of Frank C. Landon before the court. Frank pleaded not guilty, but the testimony of Constable and Patrolman Joseph Conditine satisfied the court that he was in the wrong. The defendant said that he got on a car on Broadway yesterday and intended to get off at Merrimack square but was carried by. He rode to the end of the line and thought that he was at a free ride back. The minimum fine of $5 was imposed.

A Statutory Offense

A squad of police officers, headed by J. H. Clark, arrested John Mahoney and Catherine McDermott on Prince street last evening with the result that the pair was arraigned this forenoon charged with a statutory offense. They were found guilty and the woman, about whom complaints have been received at the station, was sentenced to three months in jail. Mahoney was given a month to pay a $15 fine.

Placed on File

For unlawfully driving an automobile without a license, Anthony Victor was brought before the bar. He admitted that he had forgotten to carry this important paper the day he was arrested by an officer but showed that he had been granted permission to drive and his case was placed on file.

The case of Frank Byrdine, charged with unlawfully converting mortgage property, was continued until Monday for trial at the request of Bennett Silverblatt for the complainant. It seems that Byrdine bought a floor scale from a local merchant and sold it to an unknown person before all payments had been made.

Other Court Cases

Patrick Kelley was present on continuance for threatening his wife, Mary, and had his case continued two months for disposition. August Corniller, 17, has failed to assist his mother in the support of several small children, and left home. He was arrested charged with being a stubborn child, and this morning placed on probation on condition that he go to work.

Among the intoxication offenders were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Donahue who were arrested together yesterday afternoon on French street by Patrolman Swanwick. Three times within a year the couple has been arrested for this offense. Mrs. Donahue appeared to be in bad shape this forenoon and her case was continued one week for sentence. Her husband was committed to jail for four months. Dennis J. Breen, a third offender, was given a suspended sentence of four months on condition that he leave immediately for Maine.

MAJ. GENERAL LEONARD WOOD
IN PLATTSBURG CAMP OF MILITARY INSTRUCTION

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD

Major General Wood is in charge of the great camp for military instruction which has been instituted at Plattsburg, N. Y. Some of the leading men of the country are among the students. Many of them have been seeking light on the national defenses of this country. The accompanying photograph of General Wood was taken at the camp.

GONE TO THE SEASHORE

the beach the party got busy with the bathing suits and dressed for the water. Nearly all the men were skilled in the art of swimming and some of the girls were also very proficient. After some time spent in the water the call for dinner was sounded, and, needless to say, the young people responded promptly. The menu provided was an excellent one and the party did full justice to it. During the repast interesting remarks were made by Supt. C. P. Williams, Chairman "Tom" Denney, and Foreman Frank Diegan.

After the dinner the party went on sightseeing tours, having a most enjoyable time. Shortly after 2 o'clock the sporting events were held, suitable prizes being awarded the winners by Foreman Diegan, who presented each with a neat little speech.

A baseball game between the making room and sole-leather room was hotly contested and went 13 innings before a decision could be made. Edmund Preston of the cutting department officiated as umpire to the satisfaction of all. With the exception of the losing making room team, but he succeeded in cooling their wrath before the outing was over, and harmony prevailed in the camp.

Following the sporting events, the attractions along the boulevard were visited and over an hour was spent in the "Pit," where every fun-making device was given a thorough trying out. Foreman Thomas Denney was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair and he was ably assisted by the employees in making the outing an unprecedented success. The start home will be made at an early hour this evening.

Swedish Congregational Church

At 1.15 o'clock this afternoon about 150 members of the Swedish Congregational church left Merrimack square in two special cars for Revere beach where they held their annual outing. The crowd was a merry one and the trip to the resort was most pleasant. Outdoor sports were held and in the course of the afternoon refreshments were served. The affair was in the hands of a competent committee headed by Miss Evelyn Lynch.

Gorham Street Residents

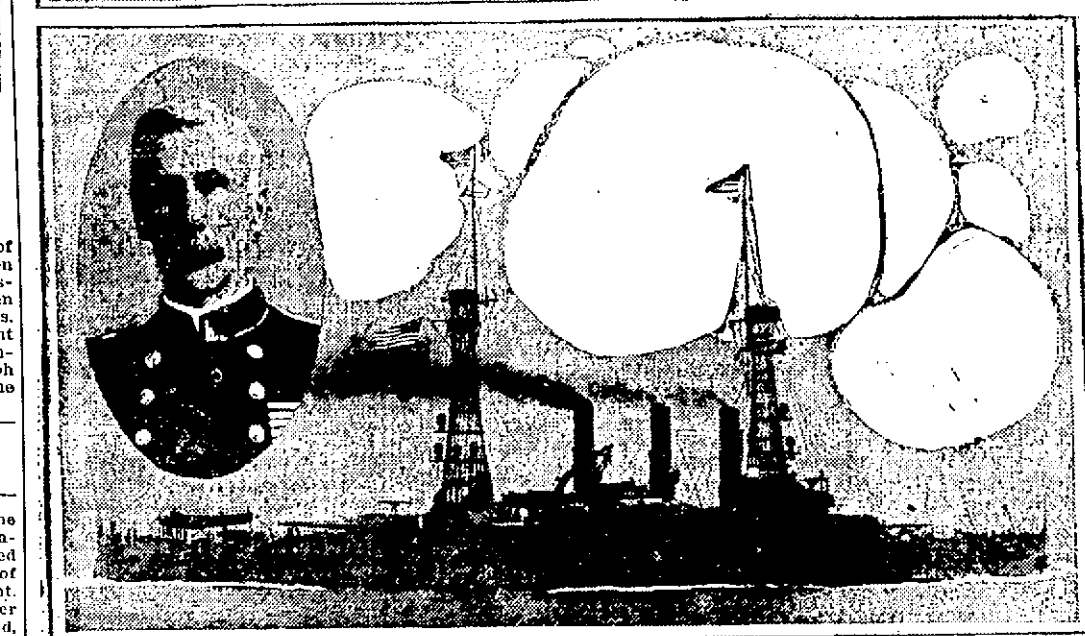

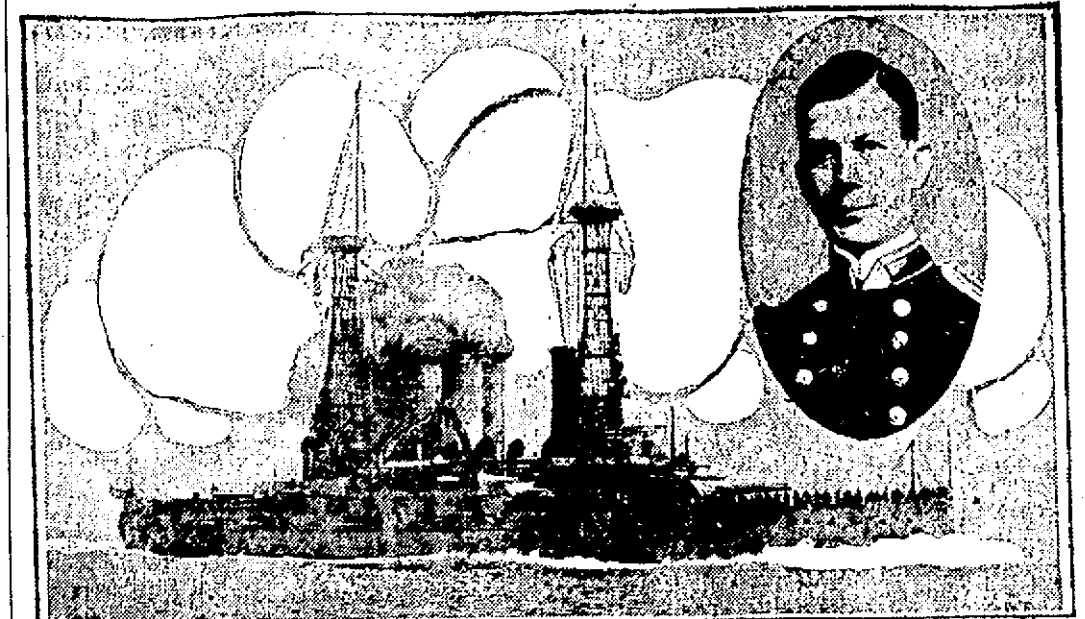

About 70 residents of upper Gorham street headed by Mr. B. Peterson, boarded a special car at the square early this morning for Mountain Rock where a day full of enjoyment was spent. In the morning a long list of sports was carried out and at noon a sumptuous repast was served. During the afternoon, baseball games were played, and boating and bathing were enjoyed. Mr. Peterson was in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

Merrimack Mill Employees

The annual outing of the employees of the Merrimack mills repair department was held at Revere beach today, and according to all reports, the event proved even more successful than the outings held in past years. Over 200 employees made the trip to the resort, and immediately upon their arrival, a plunge in the surf was enjoyed. This was followed by a dinner, and in the afternoon baseball games were played and a long list of sports was run off. The program for the evening includes visits to the various attractions along the resort and dancing. The start home will be made at 9.30 p. m. As in former years, Mr. Daly was much in evidence, and his witticisms and singing were much enjoyed during the day.

Porters at Revere

Members of Courts St. Antoine and St. Paul, C. O. P. of this city are today conducting an outing to Revere beach for their families and invited guests. Two special cars chartered for the occasion left Merrimack square at 1.15 o'clock this afternoon and the trip to the beach was greatly enjoyed. The return trip will be made at 2.30

BATTLESHIPS AND COMMANDERS ORDERED TO
"PROCEED AT ONCE TO SOUTHERN WATERS"

UPPER—CAPT. COOPER and LOUISIANA—LOWER—CAPT. ANDERSON and NEW HAMPSHIRE

The ultimate destination of the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire will be guided by developments in Mexico, particularly in Vera Cruz. The navy department announced that while the battleships had left Newport and proceeded south, their destination had not been determined. The sailing orders read simply "proceed at once to southern waters."

this evening. President Alfred Label is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the affair.

Other Outings

Residents of upper Gorham street and employees of the T. Martin & Son Manufacturing Co. were numbered among the Lowell people at Revere today, both parties making the trip to the resort in special cars. The boys of the Middlesex County Training school are enjoying their annual outing at Tyngsboro today under the supervision of Superintendent Corlew.

ELOPING COUPLE HELD

CONNECTICUT OFFICERS GO TO OS-
SIPPEE—MAN IN CASE HORSE-
WHIPPED BY IRATE NEIGHBORS

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 14.—As a quick sequel to their sensational elopement from Enfield, last Tuesday morning, and arrest at Ossipee, N. H., yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Emma Howe, the pretty young wife of Robert Howe, and Cecil Ordway of Green Point, N. Y., State Police Detective Robert Hurley and Chief of the Thompsonville Police Jeremiah Callahan left last night for New Hampshire to bring the elopers back provided they are willing to waive extradition details. At any rate the stolen automobile will be brought back and an extradition warrant secured later if necessary.

All summer the doings at the Howe house have been choice scandal morsels for the Canfield summer colony, especially inasmuch as Mr. Howe, who is popular in the town, is an invalid, and unable to compel his wife to elope. Ordway, who says his parents are not living together and that he gets an income from each of them.

Last Monday night at a dance and lawn party given at the summer home of William H. Whitney of Brooklyn, a director of the Brooklyn National bank, the younger men of the summer colony laid their plans and arranged a mass of tar and feathers in a nearby farm. Going to the Howe home about 1 o'clock in the morning, they rapped loudly until Mrs. Howe opened the door.

Then after several demands Ordway was produced and given the thrashing of his young life with the invalid husband applauding and shouting from an upper window that Ormond Grindell, a friend of Ordway was in the house and was just as objectionable as the star boarder.

While trying to locate Grindell, the tar and feathers party lost Ordway, who was rescued and secreted in an attic closet by Mrs. Howe.

Adjournment was taken to the village center to formulate fresh plans

LOCAL MEN SEE GOVERNOR

Chief Executive Has Conference
With a Number of Bay State
Sportsmen

Simon B. Harris, president of the Lowell Fish and Game association, and Willis S. Holt, father and secretary of the association, together with several others who are interested in the propagation and proper distribution of fish and game in Massachusetts, had a conference with Gov. Walsh at the state house yesterday and discussed the proposed reorganization of the Fish and Game commission. The governor, it is said, made no secret of the fact that he is to appoint a successor to Dr. George W. Field, chairman of the commission, whose term has expired and who is still serving as a member of the board.

Besides the Lowell men, those with whom the governor talked included George D. Clark, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective association; Charles T. Bangs, president of the Greenfield Sportsmen's club; Sec. Tedford of the Clinton Gun club; N. J. Hardy of the Middlesex Game association; Dr. F. E. Lincoln, president of the Leominster Sportsmen's club; Samuel D. Sherwood, president of the Fish and Game association of Springfield, Abraham E. Shaw of the same organization; C. H. Sparrell, Willis S. Holt, father and secretary of the association, together with several others who are interested in the propagation and proper distribution of fish and game in Massachusetts, had a conference with Gov. Walsh at the state house yesterday and discussed the proposed reorganization of the Fish and Game commission. The governor, it is said, made no secret of the fact that he is to appoint a successor to Dr. George W. Field, chairman of the commission, whose term has expired and who is still serving as a member of the board.

The sentiment was nearly unanimous, "affirmed the governor, "That in view of the evidence I ought to make a change."

The governor declared that the one fact that for three years there has been no report from the Fish and Game commission appeared to influence the sportsmen in urging he make a change. That a business man should be made the head of the commission was the opinion of the sportsmen.

the Whitner lawn party Monday night and then expended their excess energy by wallowing Ordway still have their tar and feathers and the fence rail and are wondering if they may yet use the paraphernalia.

TWO GIRLS DROWNED

THIRD ALMOST DEAD WHEN RES-CUED—MOTHER'S DREAM CAME TRUE

RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 14.—Georgia Nedd, aged 18, and Kathleen Hays, 14, were drowned yesterday afternoon at Avalon beach, Lake Bomoseen, and Bessie Russell, aged 16, was also nearly dead when dragged from the water after an heroic attempt to save the lives of her two friends, who were members of a camping party of 10 girls from Whitehall, N. Y.

Percy Strobel of this city, son of Dr. C. W. Strobel of New York, who recovered the bodies, was so exhausted that it is believed he too would have succumbed if help had not been at hand.

Only Thursday night Mrs. Hays, mother of Kathleen, dreamed that her daughter had been drowned, and was so frightened that before the girls started for their camp yesterday morning she warned Kathleen not to go into the water.

Despite the fact that adjacent campers and physicians worked for an hour over the bodies of the two girls, not a sign of life could be restored.

MISSING GIRL FOUND

"CAME TO BOSTON TO HAVE SOME FUN," SAYS DOLLY GUIDONE, OF HARTFORD, CONN.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—"I left home and came to Boston to have some fun," was the tenor of the explanation of pretty Elvira Dolores Guidone, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Guidone of Hartford, Conn., for her four-days' absence from home, when she was found at the South station yesterday, about to start for home.

Displaying the same debonaire spirit with which she answered the questions of the Boston police, when found, "Dolly," as her parents call her, last evening at 9 left police headquarters, where she had been taken, for home, escorted by Capt. R. L. Taylor of the Hartford police.

The circumstances of the disappearance which she took so lightly and the anxiety of her parents in that time had stirred the police to activity in all the large cities along the coast from New York to Boston.

Her parents and the police had held the belief that some person or persons had spirited her away, but "Dolly's" explanations seem to prove that her's is merely the latest case of the spirited miss who, chafing at home restrictions and with a desire to see the world, has succumbed to wanderlust. From various sources during her absence rumors have come of the use upon her by strangers of the mysterious "hypo" needle, that being "stage struck" she had run away with the intention of entering the lists as a film heroine; or that she had been spirited away by some masculine friend.

BANKERS FROM COTTON GROWING
STATES CONFER AT GALVESTON, TEXAS

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 14.—Bankers from the cotton growing states met here today to confer on the problems of marketing the cotton crop. The meeting was called by Joseph Hirsch of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Bankers association, as a result of the successful warehousing carried on by the Texas organization during the last six weeks.

Informal conferences held before the formal opening of the meeting developed almost unanimous sentiment in favor of the organization of a cotton states bankers association. This association would have for its main purpose the education of the bankers and farmers of the south in a comprehensive plan of marketing which will remove from the market in the early part of the season all distress cotton. The means for accomplishing this result, the bankers believe, is proper warehousing and advances to farmers by local banks, which will take as security proper warehouse receipts and insurance policies.

This plan, it is declared, will afford relief to the growers who are in immediate need of funds at the opening of the picking season, will insure a more nearly uniform price throughout the market season and will result in ultimate benefit to the grower, the banker and the spinner, and through these to the entire population of the south.

Visiting bankers are unanimous in declaring that the new federal reserve bank system will be a vital factor in making their gradual marketing plans possible. They point out that there should be no repetition of the "dumping" which sent prices to abnormally low prices last year following the outbreak of the European war.

REALTY NEWS OF WEEK

Armenian National Church in Lawrence Street—Big Building Boom on Way

The erection of a new edifice for the members of the Armenian National Apostolic Church of this city will be among the most important of the building operations of the near future. The new church will be built in Lawrence street, nearly opposite Tyler street. The secretary of the church is M. D. Mannelian, who resides at 283 Central street.

The dimensions of the new house of worship of the Armenian National Apostolic society will be 24 by 61 feet, and it will consist of one story and basement. There will be a vestibule on the front measuring 14 feet square. The seating capacity of the structure will be about 250 seats and the estimated cost is $8000. The church will have a stone foundation and a steam heating plant will be installed.

There will be one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath, and the estimated cost is $3500.

Peter H. Savage is building a new store front at 410 Market street and remodeling the front portion of the property.

The Royal theatre, situated on upper Merrimack street and controlled by George Hussar, is to have a new gallery with a seating capacity of 500. The height of the building will be considerably increased, a new fire escape will be constructed on the exterior of the building and the interior will be generally remodelled and renewed. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $2000.

Charles B. Knapp is to have the barn at 157 A street changed over into a two and one-half story two family dwelling. The work will cost $2000.

The single apartment dwelling at 99 Andrews street is being remodelled by the owner, Winifred Sullivan, into a two family dwelling. This will necessitate considerable addition and alteration. Cost $1200.

George Hoven is remodeling his property at 106 Church street.

Luke Duffy is changing the front of the house at 60 West street into a store and will build an addition for a new store front.

There is considerable activity throughout the city as is evidenced by the number of permits granted at city hall.

J. Alfred Pinard is building a garage at 36 Harris avenue at the corner of D street. The building will have dimensions of 22 by 24 feet and will be built of wood and concrete. The cost is placed at $300.

The Lowell News Co. will have a storage shed constructed in the rear of its establishment at 193 French street. It will be 15 feet by eight feet in size.

A dwelling of two apartments of five rooms, pantry and bath each, will be constructed for Thomas J. Phelps at 110-112 Bellevue street. It will be two and one-half stories in height and the cost is estimated at $2800.

Francis Vahey is building a small office structure to be used as an office for himself. Its location is at a point between 637 and 640 Lakeview avenue.

A single apartment dwelling of six rooms, pantry and bath, and one and one-half stories in height will be built at 195 B street for Frank E. Harris. It will be heated by steam and the cost will be approximately $2100.

Harry J. Corwin is to build a modern residence at 93 Holyrood avenue.

FOSS PLEADS WITH MEN

MAKES SPEECH TO BLOWER WORKS EMPLOYEES ON "WHEN AND WHY IT PAYS TO BE LOYAL"

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Former Gov. Foss yesterday took the stump against the labor leaders who are trying to spread the strike among his employees at the B. F. Sturtevant Blower Works in Hyde Park, Massachusetts.

During the luncheon recess, the former governor, talked for nearly half an hour on "When and why it pays to be loyal."

No reporters were admitted, nor were typewritten copies furnished from the boss press bureau, but in the afternoon Gen. Manager Ernest H. Freeman outlined what Mr. Foss said.

The former governor assured the employees that none of the Becker Milling Machine company's work would be transferred to the Sturtevant plant.

Some work on Becker milling machines was being done, he explained, but these were completed before the strike was called, and were dismantled on their way to an auto factory in Toledo. They were now simply being repaired for shipment.

The remainder of the speech was sort of a heart-to-heart chat in which Mr. Foss touched on about everything except prohibition.

At the same time several labor leaders were talking to the Sturtevant men on Bellevue street. They opened the meeting on the Metropolitan Park property, but were warned off and took to the highway. When they spoke there, policemen held their watches out to see that the addresses did not extend beyond five minutes.

The labor men yesterday asserted that 50 men were out, but at the factory it was said that there were only 15 employees missing from their benches. The discrepancy may be due to the fact that many who walked out yesterday and Thursday were paid off and discharged.

MANSFIELD RECOVERS LOOT

Edward D. Smiley Arrested on Charge of Entering Ex-Postmaster's House at Allston

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—With the arrest yesterday afternoon of a man who said he was Edward D. Smiley of 91 Sudbury street, inspectors Murphy and O'Neill think they may clear up the mystery of the recent robbery at the home of ex-Postmaster Edward C. Mansfield, 89 Linden street, Allston, and other thefts in suburban homes.

At police headquarters yesterday, Mr. Mansfield identified and recovered several hundred dollars' worth of property which had been taken from his home. The break occurred Wednesday afternoon. It is not yet known whether others were involved in the break.

Smiley's measurements tally in many respects with those of a man registered as R. D. Smith, recently arrested on a charge of breaking and entering in the West End.

PAN-AMERICAN ENVOYS CALL ON WARRING MEXICAN CHIEFS TO END INTERNAL STRIFE

PAN-AMERICANS SEEKING PEACE IN MEXICO

Secretary of State John Lansing and representatives of six South and Central American republics signed an appeal addressed to the leaders of all factions in Mexico. It calls upon them in the name of humanity and national patriotism to end civil strife and meet in a peace conference. Armed intervention in Mexico was not considered at the conference, which was held in the Biltmore hotel, New York. The Latin American countries represented were Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Uruguay, and Guatemala. Only the first steps toward bringing about peace in war ridden Mexico were taken by the conference. The session lasted for two hours, and at its close Secretary Lansing told briefly what had been accomplished.

"We have assented or agreed," he said, "to a proposition that a communication should be addressed to the different factions in Mexico appealing to them to compose their differences. We also have agreed upon the form we will recommend to our respective governments with reference to the recognition of a government in Mexico." The appeal, which is brief and courteous, phrases, calls upon the Mexicans to consider the injurious effect throughout the world which the constant turbulence in Mexico has caused. The petition suggests that a peace conference be held on neutral territory in Mexico far from the roar of cannon. The governments signing it express their willingness to act, if invited, in any practicable way to assist in bringing the various factions together for the conference. The communication will be given the widest publicity throughout Mexico and will be delivered by the diplomatic and consular agents of the various governments signatory to it. Replies are definitely asked for the hope being expressed that these will be received within ten days after the communication reaches the leaders, unless some just cause for delay presents itself. The accompanying photographs were taken on the day of the conference at the Biltmore hotel. They are, left to right, Ignacion Calderon of Bolivia, Federico Alfonso Pezot, Peru; Eduardo Suarez Mujica, Chile, and Domitio da Gama, Brazil.

LEE WAS DOPEY SIXTH REGIMENT

Man Claiming Lowell as His Home Under Arrest in Portland

A young man claiming to be Miles J. Lee, 20, of this city, was arrested yesterday morning at Portland, Me., and held on a charge of breaking and entering the office of Dr. Franz Leyenberg, 350 Congress street, that city, last Tuesday night and the larceny of about 300 morphine tablets and considerable paraphernalia. Lee said he is a cook by trade and formerly worked in local restaurants. The city directory does not contain any such name.

Lee was arrested in the lower corridor in city hall by Police Officer Strout, and it is alleged that the man was partly under the influence of some drug when the arrest was made. A bottle containing a small amount of morphine, which is identified by Dr. Leyenberg as his property together with a full set of hypodermic needles and other "dope" paraphernalia was found in Lee's possession, and he was later identified by Dr. Leyenberg as the man who twice called at his office under different names for the purpose of securing morphine prescriptions. Two keys, one of which fitted the door of Dr. Leyenberg's office and the other one of the chambers in the house were also found on Lee.

Home Tomorrow—6th Regiment Band Back

SANDWICH, Aug. 14.—The camp at Peter's pond was drenched by a heavy shower early yesterday forenoon, but the weather clearing, there was an inspection of quarters and arms, followed by the instruction of the entire regiment by Capt. McCoy, U. S. A., in cooking and outdoor work.

Following dinner, the canvas having dried out, the big pyramidal tents were struck, rolled and transported to Sandwich station in readiness for the homeward movement on Sunday. All the heavy baggage will be hauled to the station tomorrow, so that the final breaking of camp can be done expeditiously and smoothly. The Sixth regiment band came back to Lowell last night.

Immediately following dinner preparations were begun for the marching of the men rolled their belongings in their shelter tent halves and, slinging their rolls across their shoulders, were ready for the order to march. Maj. Kittredge's battalion was the first away, followed by the battalion of Capt. Stewart at 2:45. Maj. Dolan's at 3 and the machine gun company at 3:15. Each battalion commander was supplied with a different route, but Maj. Dolan in marching over the West Barnstable road nearly ran into Maj. Kittredge and was obliged to halt until the road ahead was clear.

Last night scouts from all the battalions were combing the woods and fields endeavoring to locate their enemy, while outposts and pickets were posted on all the roads in the vicinity of South Sandwich and along the Barnstable pike.

The strength of the regiment during this encampment has been the largest in its history, but 10 men out of its entire enlistment having been reported absent. The discipline of the command has also attracted favorable notice from military visitors and taken all in all, Col. Sweetser has good reason to be pleased.

Denied the Robbery

Lee denied the robbery, but was held for the municipal court on the charge of breaking and entering in the night time and larceny.

The Leyenberg case was reported to the police last Tuesday night shortly after 11 o'clock. In the absence of the physician some one forced a window leading into his office, unlocked a medicine cabinet with a bunch of keys found in the room and got away with 300 morphine tablets. No clue of any consequence was left except the description given by Dr. Leyenberg of a man describing himself upon one occasion as Dr. W. C. Smith and at another as Thomas H. Hiram, who applied for a morphine prescription at the doctor's office.

Yesterday morning about 9:30, as Officer Strout was passing through a

CAMP NOTES

The members of the Sixth Regiment band arrived home last evening in high spirits over their big success for they were complimented on all sides, and so well did Col. Sweetser like their work that he added a dollar to each man's pay out of his own pocket.

The band gave a concert Thursday

evening with Captain Jeyes as master of ceremonies.

Company G won the tug-of-war contest.

Sergt. Sturgis of the Machine Gun Co. introduced a novelty called "Are you there?" The contestants are blindfolded and lie down, each holding the other by one hand, while in the other hand each carries a big wad of paper. At the question, "Are you there?" each tries to hit the other on the head with the paper, and he who nabs his opponent three times, wins. Some fun.

Drum Major Miner, who has made a big hit with the band, nearly broke his ankle Thursday morning. He stumbled over a mosquito that was slumbering in the road.

The regular army officers present complimented the band upon its general good work. The band had marching drill conducted by Lieut. Canty of the Ninth.

Company B of Fitchburg had two Swede cooks, O'Connell and Murphy, and they were some cooks.

Company G entertained the band by initiating the rookies among the band men in the company street.

"Quill" Sturtevant had a fine time Thursday when he renewed old acquaintances with a friend of the old Sarge. Cadet band with which Mr. Sturtevant played long ago. His friend likes music, but doesn't play much.

Harry McKinley made a big hit with the officers.

Billy Griffiths had an important engagement and had to flag the concert Thursday.

The members of the band all put on weight, due in a large measure to the efficiency of their cooks, Bill Parks and Bill Benoit.

Ed. Atwood's horse found it hard to become acclimated and had a case of colic just when Ed. was busiest.

Bill Looney gained eight pounds but he expects to work it off in a few days' races.

EMISSARY FROM MEXICO

PUERLO, Colo., Aug. 14.—Rudolph Herler, an emissary from old Mexico, is under arrest here today on a charge of inciting Pueblo county Mexicans to prepare to join in an insurrection of Mexicans in southern Texas.

Papers in his possession, the police say, prove that he came here for the purpose of enlisting local Mexicans in the ranks of the revolutionists. Herler is credited with being supplied with adequate funds to carry out the plan. Mexican laborers in the smelters and at the steel works already had enlisted in large numbers since last Monday, the day Herler arrived in this city.

Herler is credited with being one of the fathers of the "San Diego plan," by this scheme Mexicans are said to have contemplated the death of all American males over 16 years old along the Mexican border.

THE SPELLBINDER

We'll know Monday morning who's to be who on the state ticket this year, for the time for filing nomination papers closes this afternoon at 6 o'clock. Then the state campaign will begin and locally the contests to be fought hardest will be for sheriff and for representative, while, of course, there will be considerable quiet work done among the republicans by the friends of Messrs. McCall and Cushing. Prominent republicans are beginning to show concern over the repeated talk of the democrats taking part in the republican contests, for while at first they were inclined to believe that such action would be confined to scattered individuals they now believe that in some quarters concerted efforts are to be made by the democrats in behalf of and against certain republican candidates. The new form of balloting was experimented with recently in another city, and the result showed 25 per cent blanks, which indicated that 25 per cent of those upon whom the experiment was tried failed to observe the condition imposed that while a voter has the privilege of voting for the candidates of any one of the parties he cannot vote for a single candidate of another party without invalidating his entire ballot. If a voter, for instance, starts his ballot by crossing the name of Hon. David I. Walsh, for governor, he cannot vote for any republican candidate, nor does he vote for democrats throughout if he votes at all, or else even his vote for Governor Walsh will be lost.

Inadequate Fire Protection

No section of Lowell has grown so rapidly and gives such promise of future growth as the upper Highlands district, and the latest protest to the municipal council comes from the Highlands, or, at least, in its way, for a petition is in circulation protesting against the removal of the two horses from the chemical engine stationed at the corner of Westford and Lane streets. At the present time the horses have gone somewhere and the men at the house have been reduced in number, it is said, to four, so that in the event of an alarm ringing during meal hours there are but two men at the house to respond with the apparatus. It is understood that these horses with four others are at pasture until for work, and hence it would seem that substitutes should be employed or else motor apparatus purchased. Way back in 1898, Mayor Palmer saw the need of a firehouse in the Highlands district and three firemen just beginning to open up in that year the city council built three firehouses and three police houses. There were three firms of architects in Lowell at that time and each got two buildings. The city council purchased the corner lot at Westford and Lane streets and paid only $1000 for it, although there was a two-story house on it. The house was purchased by the city by the late John Lennon and was moved to Horse street where it stands today. A substantial building was then erected and it has done service ever since. Since the district began to grow the chemical engine there has proved its worth in many ways. It is a district where in the dry season many incipient fires start which if not promptly extinguished might easily cause great damage to property. One day last spring the Westford street chemical was called out seven times to attend to just such fires. A chemical engine is of particular value in that part of the Highlands in the vicinity of St. Margaret's church, for the land is so high hydrants are very few and without the chemical a fire might get a big start while the engines were attempting to get water from the hydrants. The residents of that district are mostly men of business, who leave their homes in the morning and in many cases do not return until evening. While they know that the district is protected by a chemical engine they are not too sure of their business without some sort of protection for the folks and property at home, but upon learning that the service of that chemical has been crippled and may be denied them altogether, they arise to protest and to protest vigorously. It has been argued that the Branch street apparatus can look after the needs of the district, even in the event of the removal of the Westford street chemical, but when one considers that the Branch street company is located almost in the heart of the lumber district and in a section that has furnished most of Lowell's biggest fires, the question arises, What becomes of the Highlands if a fire should break out in the upper district while the Branch street company is engaged elsewhere? In a very short time it will be necessary to locate another company in the upper Highlands, the result of the great and continuous growth of that section, but until that time the residents want the Westford street chemical equipped with horses and men or a motor chemical installed, and on the job all the time.

The fire department, it is said, has horses unfit for work and a piece of apparatus in Centralville that is likely to fall to pieces at any old time. Yet somewhere in the city treasury $16,000, appropriated last March for the purchase of fire apparatus, is lying idle, and unless the orders for new motor apparatus are put in within a very short time there'll be no new motor apparatus in Lowell this year, for, it is said, they can't be gotten out in the time that remains. Visitors to the auto show in Boston some time ago claim that they saw a motor fire apparatus at the show labeled "Sold to the Lowell Fire Department." As yet the apparatus hasn't made its appearance, and there's a possibility that the visitors to the show made a mistake in reading the sign. But whether the city gets any new apparatus or not the residents of the Highlands demand that the Westford street engine should be retained and kept up until replaced by another company in some other location in that district. Here's hoping that when the city does make up its mind to locate another firehouse in the Highlands it will get out of it as cheaply as did Mayor Palmer's administration of years ago.

Thompson for Mayor

Mr. Perry Thompson, apparently, takes mild exceptions to rumors to the effect that he was afraid of some of the other mayoralty possibilities, and hence was undecided about announcing his own candidacy. Mr. Thompson has informed a reporter of The Sun that he has certain important business matters before him which must be attended to, and if he attend to them satisfactorily and still take up a political contest he will do so, and further more he states that if he is a candidate he doesn't care who or how many are in the field against him.

Whiteley a Candidate

Joseph F. Whiteley, who has previously made a good run for representative in the 17th district, will be in the race again. He has been compiling the records of the republican members from that district and intends to take the stump in the event of his nomination.

Burke Visited Lowell

Rep. Frederick A. Burke of Lynn was one of the speakers at the recent banquet of the firemen, is the democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district, which includes wards five and nine.

Steel Encased Bridge

Now that the Locks and Canals company wants a steel bridge, and others want a cement bridge why not compromise on a steel bridge encased in cement, such as was recently built at Fitchburg? Steel bridges are costly affairs as regards upkeep, for they get bad if not attended to. But they say that steel bridges encased in cement have no expensive upkeep charges going with them.

Where Mr. Denman Scores

It is believed that whether he gets any more money for his services Engineer Denman will at least get $2500 for his plans, for it is said that one of the stipulations in connection with the bridge was that he was to get $2500 upon the acceptance of his plans by the municipal council and that upon turning them and explaining them he had turned over the plans to the council, and by taking them, without protest, the members accepted them.

Kick From So. Lowell

The residents of South Lowell do not appreciate in the least the work done by the park department on Riverside park and would rather the department had let alone than to have done what they have on it. A well known resident of that section says: "Instead of making it a park they have made it a mud-hole. They have taken some of the park commissioners to come to life perhaps they are waiting for the snow to come and hide their work."

About every section in the city has a grievance against the municipal council except Centralville. Wiggintonville is angry because two years ago for making no improvement until after the election it gets a few more promises; the people of the Highlands are up in arms over the matter of inadequate fire protection; in Pawtucketville, well, everybody knows how they feel out there in the winter they haven't forgotten that they were once promised the white way proposition while they deplore the neglect of Shedd park and the way conditions are at present the members of the municipal council who are to seek re-election will have their hands full trying to "square" the people of these different sections.

McIntyre For Auditor

A special committee from the state committee of the progressives came to Lowell recently and induced Charles W. McIntyre to be the party's candidate for state auditor. Mr. McIntyre doesn't expect to win, and personally didn't care about being a candidate, but "now is the time for all good men etc." and he consented. Sec. A. S. Goldman of the local progressive party has been circulating nomination papers for a state ticket, at the request of the state committee, and which Mr. Goldman earlier did not believe that that would present a slate. There is one contest, that for the head of the ticket, the contestants being W. D. Shaw, the prohibitionist and Nelson B. Clark, of Beverly, an "old line" progressive. Mr. Shaw has said that he will not run as a progressive candidate and the indications are that the prohibs will see to it that the convention does make such endorsement.

COTTON REPORT

The Census Bureau Announces Consumption in U. S. During 1915

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Cotton consumption in the United States during the cotton year of 1915, which ended July 31, amounted to 5,598,738 running bales of lint and 403,359 bales of linters, the census bureau announced today. In 1914 the consumption was 5,526,078 bales of lint and 308,575 bales of linters.

Cotton consumed during July was 458,475 bales of lint and 48,864 of linters, against 418,333 and 23,456 in July last year.

Cotton on hand July 31 in consuming establishments was 1,401,484 bales of lint and 192,573 of linters, against 1,065,782 and 34,218 last year and in public storage and at compresses 1,784,312 bales of lint and 83,041 of linters, against 425,102 and 32,365 last year.

Exports during July were 743,522 bales of lint and 143,364 of linters, against 126,211 and 5641 last year and for the twelve months 3,415,575 bales of lint and 218,111 of linters, against 2,150,891 and 259,551 the previous year. Imports were 35,667 bales, against 23,750 in July last year, and for the twelve months 382,287 bales against 259,385 the previous year. Foreign cotton consumed in July was 21,411 bales, on hand July 31 in consuming establishments 108,872 bales and in public storage 35,257 bales.

HOT SHOT AT HEARING

POLICE COURT CASES AND POLICE NEWS

After being found guilty of the larceny of tires and other automobile equipment at Dracut and heavily fined in the local court this forenoon, the three Lawrence men apprehended on the Centralville bridge Wednesday night after a wild chase extending over the greater part of Middlesex county, were taken into custody by a Methuen police officer, who claims they

SWIMMING TEST TRAP GERMANS

Local Swimmers in Contest Between Tyngsboro and Lowell

A crowd of 300 or more people lined the banks of the Merrimack river in Tyngsboro this forenoon, waiting for the start of the 8-mile swimming grand between the Tyngsboro bridge and the Vesper bathhouse, in which 10 of the best naturalists in Lowell and vicinity were entered, while motorboats and canoes lay in waiting near the river banks for the pistol shot which would start the mermen over the long course.

The race was for the championship of Lowell, and the 10 contestants who stepped to the starting point shortly after 1.30 o'clock were as follows: Michael Wrenn, "Babe" Christo, James Curry, George Goddard, John Moriarty, Edward McCormack, Timothy Maloney, "Joe" Christo, Louis Billerose and David Boyle. Two handsome silver cups were set up as trophies by Harry Pitts, the promoter of the match, who was on hand to see that all arrangements were carried out, and Manager James Boland was also busy giving final instructions to the swimmers.

A few minutes after 1.30 o'clock, the swimmers were called to the starting point, and after receiving final instructions from the judges, they were sent on their way by a shot from Starter Jackson Palmer's gun.

As the men dived from the bridge into river they were enthusiastically cheered by the large crowd, and motorboat engines were cranked and got in readiness to follow the band played by Lowell's Michael Wrenn, who some time ago issued a challenge to swim any man in Lowell for a purse of money immediately went into the lead, with the rest of the contestants bunched behind him.

Wrenn finished first, Maloney second and McCormack third.

LOWELL WON FIRST GAME

Standing room was at a premium at Riverside park, Lawrence, this afternoon, when over 5000 people attended the double-header between Lowell and Lawrence. Incidental to the pennant day, part of the program was given by the Lawrence brass band.

At 2 o'clock, headed by the band, the members of both teams marched to the flagpole where Old Glory and the flag were raised while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." The crowd stood with heads uncovered. Tim Murnane, who was to have been present to raise the flag, was conspicuous by his absence, but another strong man was dug up and the flag was safely raised.

Lohman went onto the mound for Lowell, and Thompson was the choice of the Lawrence management. Thompson has a record of 15 games won and four lost. Lowell played a new man at third today, he being Eddie Dwyer. He showed some class and made a great hit. Lohman pitched a beautiful game and up to the eighth inning allowed only two hits and gave one base on balls.

Lowell won first game by a score of 5 to 1.

BIG DEMOCRATIC OUTING

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 14.—Democrats from all parts of the state gathered in this city today to attend the clam bake and outing of the democratic city committee at Riverside Park. The bake started promptly at 2 o'clock and the speaking program followed an hour later.

EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL AND SPECIAL PRIVILEGE TO NONE

Pawtucketville Citizens Want Mayor to Live up to His Campaign Slogan—Petitioners at Hospital Hearing Include Many Women

There was some pep to the contagious hospital hearing held in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this afternoon. The hearing was on the petitions of the people of Pawtucketville, who protest against the erection of a contagious hospital in their midst.

There were over 100 persons present, including several women. One woman threatened with ejection, declared the mayor, and another speaker told his honor that he should live up to his campaign slogan of "equal rights to all and special privilege to none."

The mayor read the petitions and called upon William D. Regan, who represented the petitioners. Mr. Regan said the question of a contagious hospital has been agitated for years. He said the people of Pawtucketville are a community of home owners, not owners of palaces, but plain every day people.

Mr. Regan said the gardens and backyard of many homes abut on the land selected in Pawtucketville. The mayor asked where garden abutted on the hospital site, and he was informed that the residents of Lamb street and some in Seventh and Eighth avenues.

CARRANZA DISMISSES
MAYOR OF VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—General Carranza summarily dismissed the mayor of Vera Cruz from office for permitting the recent anti-foreign demonstrations which aroused apprehension of the American government. Official notification of Gen. Carranza's action reached here today. The advice stated that as a result of Carranza's action danger to foreigners had disappeared.

In view of continued re-assuring reports from Vera Cruz it is probable that the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire, now sailing south, will not be ordered to Vera Cruz as was contemplated but will be held at some convenient place for future developments.

PAN AMERICAN APPEAL

ON WAY TO MEXICO CITY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Pan-American appeal to all of the Mexican factions calling upon them to end their civil strife was being dispatched from the state department today in original Spanish directly to Generals Carranza, Villa, governors of states and to other Mexican chiefs. The appeal had been sent in English to various Latin-American legations in Mexico City to be translated into Spanish for delivery to the military leaders in that vicinity.

The next step in the administration's plan for restoring peace in Mexico will be persistent though friendly efforts to persuade the Mexican leaders

THREATENED RAID ON SUEZ CANAL FRUSTRATED

The French ministry of marine announced that a threatened raid on the Suez canal had been frustrated through the bombardment by a French cruiser of German ships in Jaffa, where munitions were being made and boats constructed for the proposed operations.

German forces are continuing their rapid eastward march from Warsaw and exerting increasing pressure on both the north and south wings of the Russian army. The situation is causing the question to be raised in capitals of the entente allies whether the Grand Duke Nicholas' forces will be able to hold their second line of defense, with Brest-Litovsk as its center.

Today's German official report shows that Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces have swung northward to a line drawn from Radzyn to Vlodova, pressing closer to the Brest-Litovsk stronghold which is about 35 miles north of Vlodova.

The German crown prince continues pounding at the French lines in the Argonne. Paris reports an attack last night along the entire front in the Marthe Therese sector which was repulsed. Berlin declares progress was made by the Germans near Martinswerk, in the Argonne region.

The British steamer Calvo and a fishing smack have been sunk by German submarines.

Steady progress for forces of Prince Leopold East of Warsaw

LONDON, Aug. 14 12.20 p. m.—Steady progress for the forces of Prince Leopold of Bavaria eastward from Warsaw is taken here to indicate that the Germans are now passing their main movements on a drive through the Russian center and the continuance of the enveloping effort in the north, along the Dvina. Both Petrograd and Berlin agree that the Germans have occupied the towns of Sokolow, Siedlce and Lukow, forming a German front about 60 miles east of Warsaw and 50 miles wide.

This is more than half way to Brest-Litovsk, which Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander in chief hoped to make the new center of his defense. It is now regarded as probable that this point will be abandoned, owing to the speed of the German advance since the fall of Warsaw and the continued pressure of the armies of General Gallitzin, Scholtz, Elchshorn and Plack, forming a semi-circle closing in toward the north.

ATTACK ON SUEZ CANAL IN CHARGE OF CAMP BATTLESHIPS AND COMMANDERS ORDERED TO "PROCEED AT ONCE TO SOUTHERN WATERS"

FRENCH CRUISER THWARTED
PLAN OF GERMANS TO MAKE
ATTACK

PARIS, Aug. 14, 11.25 a. m.—A plan for an attack on the Suez canal is said by the ministry of marine today to have been detected and thwarted. Announcement was made in the following statement:

"On August 12, after warning had been given to the evacuation of Jaffa and time given for the evacuation of the vicinity, a French cruiser bombarded and destroyed the principal building of the shops of the German Wagner, which were making arms and munitions and constructing boats destined for an attack on the Suez canal. The houses in the vicinity were not damaged."

IN POLICE COURT

$25 for stealing the tire and cover from Wilfred Blouin's machine which was outside his camp at Willow Dale. They were represented by Attorney Mahoney of Lawrence.

The story of the chase which began at Lakeview park and wound up on Bridge street after passing through Lowell, East Chelmsford, Billerica, Burlington, Woburn, Wilmington and Tewksbury was related by Mr. Mercer. At one time during the chase, said the young man, they saw several tires in the rear of the Lawrence machine and so were very persistent in following them until an investigation was made. He said the property stolen from his car was valued at about $40, but on account of being an automobile dealer, he could purchase it for approximately $25.

Wilfred Blouin, who resides at 131 White street, but has a camp at Willow Dale, left his machine in the rear of his camp Wednesday night and the next morning discovered that a tire was missing. He identified a tire said to have been taken from the defendant's machine as the one stolen from his car. A horn was also taken, he said, but recovered by the police.

Attorney Mahoney appeared to the court for leniency on account of the past records of the young men, none having ever been arrested before. Lacourse, a Lawrence vegetable dealer, is married and his wife, a cripple, appeared in the court room this morning. Judge Enright said he had intended to give the three young men direct sentences to the Massachusetts reformatory but on account of the words spoken in their behalf by Mr. Mahoney, he would impose fines instead. Lacourse paid his $75 immediately and the others were given one week in which to collect the collateral.

Nickel Calls $5

For evading payment of car fare while under the influence of liquor was responsible for the presence of Frank C. Landon before the court. Frank pleaded not guilty, but the testimony of Conductor Carroll and Paulman Joseph Considine satisfied the court that he had been drunk. The defendant said that he had not on Broadway yesterday and intended to get off at Merrimack square but was carried by. He rode to the end of the line and thought that he was entitled to a free ride back. The minimum fine of $5 was imposed.

A Statutory Offense

A squad of police officers, headed by J. H. Clark, arrested John Mahoney and Catherine McDermott on Prince street last evening with the result that the pair was arraigned this forenoon charged with a statutory offense. They were found guilty and the woman, about whom complaints have been received at the station, was sentenced to three months in jail. Mahoney was given a month to pay a $15 fine.

Placed on File

For unlawfully driving an automobile without a license, Anthony V. Vito was brought before the court and admitted that he had forgotten to carry this important paper the day he was accused by an officer but showed that he had been granted permission to drive and his case was placed on file.

The case of Frank Byedline, charged with unlawfully conveying a mortgage of property, was continued until Monday for trial at the request of Bennett Sheehy for the complainant. It seems that Byedline bought a floor from a local merchant and sold it to an unknown person before all payments had been made.

Other Court Cases

Patrick Kelley was present on continuance for threatening his wife, Mary, and had his case continued to Monday for disposition. August Corneille, 17, has failed to assist his mother in the support of several small children, and left home. He was arrested charged with being a stubborn child, and this morning placed on probation on condition that he go to work.

Among the intoxication offenders were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Donahue who were arrested together yesterday afternoon on French street by Patrolman Swanwick. Three times within a year the couple has been arrested together. Mrs. Donahue appeared to be in bad shape this forenoon and her case was continued one week for sentence. Her husband was committed to jail for four months. Dennis J. Green, a third offender, was given a suspended sentence of four months on condition that he leave immediately for Maine.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD

Major General Wood is in charge of the great camp for military instruction which has been instituted at Plattsburg, N. Y. Some of the leading men of the country are among the students. Many of them have been seeking light on the national defense of this country. The accompanying photograph of General Wood was taken at this camp.

the beach the party got busy with the bathing suits and made for the water. Nearly all the men were skilled in the art of swimming and some of the girls were also very proficient. After some time spent in the water the call for dinner was sounded, and, needless to say, the young people responded promptly. The menu provided was an excellent one and the party did full justice to it. During the rest interesting remarks were made by Supt. C. P. Williams, Chairman "Tom" Denney and Foreman Frank Diegan.

After the dinner the party went on sightseeing tours, having a most enjoyable time. Shortly after 2 o'clock the sporting events were held, suitable prizes being awarded the winners by Foreman Diegan, who presented each with a neat little speech.

A baseball game between the making room and sole-leather room was hotly contested and went 13 innings before a decision could be made. Edmund Preston, the cutting department officiated as umpire to the satisfaction of all, with the exception of the losing making room team, but he succeeded in cooling their wrath before the outing was over, and harmony prevailed in the camp.

Following the sporting events, the attractions along the boulevard were visited and over an hour was spent in the "M.T." where every fun-making device was given a thorough trying out. Foreman Thomas Denney was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair and he was ably assisted by an unprecedented success. The start home will be made at an early hour this evening.

Svedish Congregational Church

At 1.15 o'clock this afternoon about 150 members of the Svedish Congregational church left Merrimack square in two special cars for Revere beach where they held their annual outing. The crowd was a merry one and the trip to the resort was most pleasant. Outdoor sports were held and in the course of the afternoon refreshments were served. The affair was in the hands of a competent committee headed by Miss Evelyn Lynch.

Gorham Street Residents

About 70 residents of upper Gorham street headed by Mr. B. Peterson, boarded a special car at the square early this morning for Mountain Rock where a day full of enjoyment was spent. In the morning a long list of sports was carried out and at noon a sumptuous repast was served. During the afternoon, baseball games were played, and boating and bathing were enjoyed. Mr. Peterson was in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

Merrimack Mill Employees

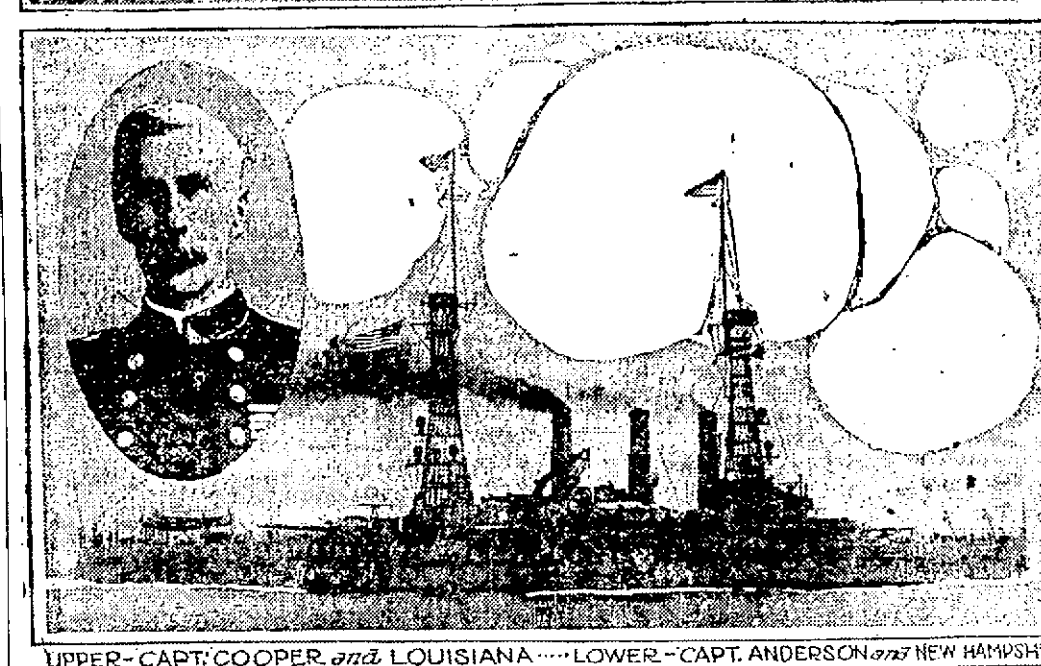

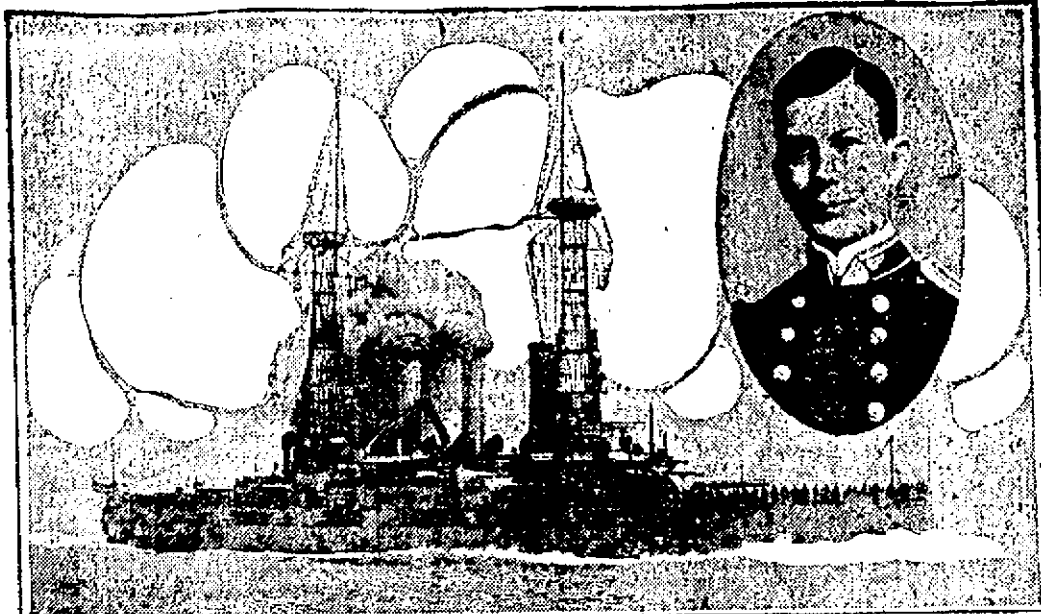

The annual outing of the employees of the Merrimack mills repair department was held at Revere beach today, about 100 making the trip. The day was ideal for a trip to the seashore and the various forms of amusement provided by the committee in charge of the affair were enjoyed by all. Of course bathing was very popular, and many of the employees spent almost the entire day in the briny. At noon a dinner was served, after which a delightful musical and literary program was carried out. Mr. Bartlett was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

Heine Electric Employees

Michael Daly's annual outing for the employees of the Heine Electric Co. was held at Revere beach today, and according to all reports, the event proved even more successful than the outings held in past years. Over 200 employees made the trip to the resort, and immediately upon their arrival, a plunge in the surf was enjoyed. This was followed by a dinner, and in the afternoon baseball games were played and a long list of sports was run off. The program for the evening includes visits to the various attractions along the resort and dancing. The start home will be made at 9.30 p. m. As in former years, Mr. Daly was much in evidence, and his witticisms and singing were much enjoyed during the day.

Foresters at Revere

Members of Courts St. Antoine and St. Paul, C. O. F. of this city are today conducting an outing to Revere beach for their families and invited guests. Two special cars chartered for the occasion left Merrimack square at 1.15 o'clock this afternoon and the trip to the beach was greatly enjoyed. The return trip will be made at 2.30

UPPER—CAPT. COOPER and LOUISIANA—LOWER—CAPT. ANDERSON and NEW HAMPSHIRE

The ultimate destination of the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire will be guided by developments in Mexico, particularly in Vera Cruz. The navy department announced that while the battleships had left Newport and proceeded south, their destination had not been determined. The sailing orders read simply "proceed at once to southern waters."

This evening, President Alfred Label is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the affair.

Other Outings

Residents of upper Gorham street and employees of the T. Martin & Son Manufacturing Co. were numbered among the Lowell people at Revere today, both parties making the trip to the resort in special cars. The boys of the Middlesex County Training school are enjoying their annual outing at Tyngsboro today under the supervision of Superintendent Corlew.

LOCAL MEN SEE GOVERNOR

Chief Executive Has Conference With a Number of Bay State Sportsmen

Simon B. Harris, president of the Lowell Fish and Game association, and Willis S. Holt, father and secretary of the association, together with several others who are interested in the propagation and proper distribution of fish and game in Massachusetts, had a conference with Gov. Walsh at the state house yesterday and discussed the proposed reorganization of the Fish and Game commission. The governor, it is said made no secret of the fact that he is to appoint a successor to Dr. George W. Field, chairman of the commission, whose term has expired and who is still serving as a member of the board.

Besides the Lowell men, those with whom the governor talked included George B. Clark, president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective association; Charles T. Bangs, president of the Greenfield Sportsmen's club; Sec. Tedford of the Clinton Gun club; N. J. Hardy of the Middlesex Game association; Dr. F. E. Lincoln, president of the Leominster Sportsmen's club; Samuel D. Sherwood, president of the Fish and Game association of Springfield, Abraham E. Snow of the same organization; C. H. Sparrell, president of the Worcester County Fish and Game association; Harry W. Bartlett of the same organization and T. B. Kinnah, vice president of the Massachusetts Fish and Game association of Sandwich.

Following the conference Gov. Walsh said that a large part of the evidence relative to the Fish and Game department compiled by the Economy and Efficiency commission was discussed and that he, in effect, asked those present in view of the material presented, what attitude he should take with respect to Dr. Field.

"The sentiment was nearly unanimous," affirmed the governor, "that in view of the evidence I ought to make a change."

The governor declared that the one fact that for three years there has been no report from the Fish and Game commission appeared to influence the sportsmen in urging him to make a change. That a business man should be made the head of the commission was the opinion of the sportsmen.

and while the next move was being discussed, an automobile in front of the Howe home and Mrs. Howe, Ordway and Grindell slipped away in the car, which developed had been stolen from the garage of Normand F. Allen, proprietor of a Hartford department store.

The next day Howe was so pleased at the departure of his wife and the boarders that he tried to auction off his house and furniture, but was dissuaded by friends for the sake of his two little ones and because he is an invalid.

Ordway was also around Thompsonville as Frederick Ordway, but the villagers all seem to prefer the Cecil application. It was thought the sloopers had but a small amount of money when they left and it was suspected they might endeavor to sell Mr. Allen's car, which was insured against theft for $800.

The young athletes who danced at the Whitney lawn party Monday night and then expended their excess energy by wallowing Ordway still have their car and feathers and the fence rail and are wondering if they may yet use the parkophenals.

TWO GIRLS DROWNED

THIRD ALMOST DEAD WHEN RESCUED—MOTHER'S DREAM CAME TRUE

RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 14.—Georgia Nedd, aged 18, and Kathleen Hays, 14, were drowned yesterday afternoon at Avalon beach, Lake Bomoseen, and Bessie Russell, aged 16, was also nearly dead when dragged from the water after an heroic attempt to save the lives of her two friends, who were members of a camping party of 10 girls from Whitehall, N. Y.

Percy Strobel of this city, son of Dr. C. W. Strobel of New York, who recovered the bodies, was so exhausted that it is believed he too would have succumbed if help had not been at hand.

Only Thursday night Mrs. Hays, mother of Kathleen, dreamed that her daughter had been drowned, and was so frightened that before the girls started for their camp yesterday morning she warned Kathleen not to go into the water.

Despite the fact that adjacent campers and physicians worked for an hour over the bodies of the two girls, not a sign of life could be restored.

MISSING GIRL FOUND

"CAME TO BOSTON TO HAVE SOME FUN," SAYS DOLLY GUIDONE, OF HARTFORD, CONN.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—"I left home and came to Boston to have some fun," was the tenor of the explanation of pretty Elvira Dolores Guidone, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Guidone of Hartford, Conn., for her four-days' absence from home, when she was found at the South station yesterday, about to start for home.

Displaying the same debonaire spirit with which she answered the questions of the Boston police when found, "Dolly," as her parents call her, last evening at 9 left police headquarters, where she had been taken for home, escorted by Capt. R. L. Taylor of the Hartford police.

The circumstances of the disappearance which she took so lightly and the anxiety of her parents in that time had stirred the police to activity in all the large cities along the coast from New York to Boston.

Her parents and the police had held the belief that some person or persons had spirited her away, but "Dolly's" explanations seem to prove that her's is merely the latest case of the high-spirited miss who, chafing at home restrictions and with a desire to see the world, has succumbed to wanderlust.

From various sources during her absence, rumors have come of the use upon her by strangers of the mysterious "hypo" needle, that being "stage struck" she had run away with the intention of entering the lists as a film heroine; or that she had been spirited away by some masculine friend.

This plan, it is declared, will afford relief to the growers who are in immediate need of funds at the opening of the picking season, will insure a more nearly uniform price throughout the market season and will result in ultimate benefit to the grower, the banker and the spinner, and through these to the entire population of the south.

Visiting bankers are unanimous in declaring that the new federal reserve bank system will be a vital factor in making their gradual marketing plans possible. They point out that there should be no repetition of the "dumping" which sent prices to abnormally low prices last year following the outbreak of the European war.

BANKERS FROM COTTON GROWING STATES CONFER AT GALVESTON, TEXAS

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 14.—Bankers from the cotton growing states met here today to confer on the problems of marketing the cotton crop.

The meeting was called by Joseph Hirsch of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Bankers association, as a result of the successful warehousing carried on by the Texas organization during the last six weeks.

Informal conferences held before the formal opening of the meeting developed almost unanimous sentiment in favor of the organization of a cotton states bankers association. This association would have for its main purpose the education of the bankers and farmers of the south in a comprehensive plan of marketing which will remove from the market in the early part of the season all distress cotton. This means for accomplishing this result, the bankers believe, is proper warehousing and advances to farmers by local banks, which will take as security proper warehouse receipts and insurance policies.

This plan, it is declared, will afford relief to the growers who are in immediate need of funds at the opening of the picking season, will insure a more nearly uniform price throughout the market season and will result in ultimate benefit to the grower, the banker and the spinner, and through these to the entire population of the south.

Visiting bankers are unanimous in declaring that the new federal reserve bank system will be a vital factor in making their gradual marketing plans possible. GRAND CIRCUIT

Murphy Takes Two Out of Three at Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 14.—Three class races made up the final program of the week's Grand Circuit racing which ended here yesterday. It was the only day of the week that there was not something exceptional to distinguish the meet. The track was in great shape after the rain of yesterday.

One favorite was beaten, but in the other two races it was a walkaway for the popular choice.

In the 213 trot Sadie S. sold for $29 and F. A. L. for $25. Murphy had the mare in the front all the way. It really was a two-horse race. Dick Watts being the only one of the field able to give battle. The pair finished one, two in each of the three heats. The time was the same in the first two. In the last one Sadie was forced to step a quarter of a second faster.

Murphy seemed bent upon making 19 a field day when he stepped out and won the 2.00 pace in three straight heats with Major Ong. The Major was a top-heavy favorite, selling for $50 and the field bringing $15.

This race was almost a duplicate of the first. Again the Murphy horse had only one of the field to beat. Hingene Pointer being the runner up this time. In the third heat the time also was featured by varying one-quarter of a second the first two heats being in 2.03 1/2 each.

Our Colonel was played rather heavily to win the 2.00 pace, but never had a chance. At the start of the first heat McDonald pushed fast to the front and Snow followed in with Lella Patchen. They fought it out around the stretch with Itatus holding a slight lead. Snow then whipped the mare into a spurt that landed him the honors.

McDonald went to the front again in the second, but then the Snow caught him earlier and finished ahead by a safe margin. Neither miles was in fast time.

Deroche, with Geers up, went to beat a mark of 2.10 1/2 and trotted the mile in 2.07 1/2.

During the meeting here, Dr. S. E. Dodson, chairman of the executive committee of the Furniture City Driving Club, announced that there was a possible chance of the Grand Circuit not being on the books here next season. Poor attendance in the past and failure on the part of the public to show any more enthusiasm this year was given as the reason. Horsemen were surprised at the announcement. The summary:

CLUB OFFERED TO FEDS

CONTROL OF STOCK OF CINCINNATI OFFERED TO WEEGHMAN FOR $255,000

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Control of the stock of the Cincinnati National league club was offered to Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals for $255,000 yesterday but the offer was declined. This became known today.

Weeghman said that Charles E. Bultman, a broker of Cincinnati, who is offering for sale the stock of the Cincinnati club, displayed certificates for 51 per cent. of the stock.

"Bultman assured me that he could deliver the goods," Weeghman said, "but when I did not want to do the proposition it was suggested that we get President Gilmore of the Federal league at New York. Mr. Bultman had a talk with him what he was told I do not know."

"It was not a new thing to President Gilmore, however, as the league was offered the controlling interest in the Cincinnati club a month ago, so that the time the offer was turned down, as we do not wish to break up any league."

"That the controlling interest in the Cincinnati club will be sold, however, at an early date, was indicated by Bultman who said the deal probably would be closed next week."

"I am here to represent Mr. Carter, who has an option on the club which does not expire until next week," Bultman said.

PROFITS IN WORLD'S SERIES

Surrogate Finds These Were Most of New York Giants' Earnings in Three Years

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The appeal of the comptroller of the state of New York from the report of the transfer tax appraiser in the estate of the late John T. Brush, principal owner of the New York National League baseball club, was dismissed last yesterday by Surrogate John P. Cahalan. The comptroller contended that the stock of the national exhibition company, owner of the New York Giants, was undervalued in the appraisal. Mr. Brush was shown to have owned 1335 shares, valued at $145,702.

Surrogate Cahalan agreed with the appraiser that the lease of the playing grounds was of no value except for the present purposes and that the earning power of the company was uncertain.

The surrogate found that the earnings in 1911, 1912 and 1913 were made up largely of returns from the world's championship series, and he held that the Giants cannot be a certain contender in the series every year.

A FOURTEEN INNING TIE

LOWELL AND WORCESTER FIGHT HARD BATTLE TO A DRAW—GREENHALGE INJURED

Had not darkness descended upon the long after supper time, Lowell and Worcester, in all probability, would be playing yet, and had not Cuke Barrows attempted to turn a three-bagger into a home run, despite the advice of Manager Keelcher on the coach line, Lowell might have won in the 14th inning.

It was a game to try men's souls and it concluded with Earl Stimpson, Lowell's left fielder, making a game attempt behind the bat, Greenhalge having been knocked out after Abner's other regular catcher, had gone out of the game after trying his luck on a pinch-hitter, while Old Hoss Jesse Burckett finished up in left field, having previously tried his luck in the right garden when he succeeded Crawford. Barrows lived up to his reputation as the league's leading batter by getting three singles and a triple in six times up, being passed by the pitcher on one occasion.

Cy Williams was on the mound for Lowell and Weaver for the visitors. Page opened the game with a foulity to Parker. McMahon fled out to Moulton and McCleskey hit to Moulton and died at first.

For Lowell McSweeney hit down the first base line to McCleskey and was out. Moulton hit an easy fly into Crawford's hands but to everybody's surprise Crawford fumbled it and Allie got on first. Stimpson hit to Gardella who made a bad pop to second trying to get Moulton and both men were safe. Weaver then uncorked a wild pitch and two runners advanced. Barrows hit to Page who chose to throw home but Moulton slid in ahead of the ball with Lowell's first run. Stimpson and Greenhalge then worked a squeeze play, Stimpson scoring and Greenhalge beating out a pretty bunt down the first base line. Munn hit across second base for a single. Barrows threw to score from second and was thrown out at the plate. De hit to McMahon and was out at first.

In the third Crawford and Weaver hit grounders to Dee who threw both out. Page hit to right centre for two bases. McMahon fled to Swayne.

Barrows opened the third with a hit to centre field. He went to second on Greenhalge's sacrifice. Munn hit to Weaver who threw Barrows out at third. Dee hit to Page and died at first.

Up to the third Jesse Burckett hadn't had a word to say, but suddenly got on from the grandstand he opened up with some of the vilest talk ever heard on a diamond. In the fourth Manager Keelcher on the Lowell bench thought that Jesse was addressing him and replied in his usual courteous manner, with the result that Jesse said he'd punch him in the nose. Jesse didn't come near him with a threat or a promise, and the incident speedily closed.

Worcester got its first run in the fourth. McCleskey struck out. Then Gardella, whom both Jesse and the third base bleachers were riding, hit out a pretty single and stole second. Hand fled out to Swayne and Carroll went home, advancing Gardella. Cooney came across with a single and Gardella scored. Crawford hit to De, and Lowell didn't see second again until the seventh and the locals scored another run on Swayne's single, aided by a sacrifice and Barrows' clean single.

In the sixth inning Burckett left the bench for the first time and went out immediately his undershorts came to, and showed three runs which put them in the lead. Gardella again was first man up and he clouted the ball way out into centre field for three bases. Hand scored him with a single. Carroll bunted to Parker, who after making a one-hand pickup gave the ball a heave to the bleachers and Hand got in and Stuffy to second. Cooney walked off the left field for a single and the two men scored. The others went out easily.

In the eighth with two out and Cooney on second, Crawford hit over second for what looked like a sure hit but Shorty Dee made a great stop and throw and got him at first.

Lowell almost put the game on ice in the 10th, but Stuffy Carroll was there with a cleat which he put a crimp in the run-getting. Barrows opened with a single and went to second on Greenhalge's sacrifice. Munn hit a long drive to right centre that looked so safe that Barrows started off to third and kept going all the way around. When he got home he was surprised to learn that Carroll had made a dandy running catch and had then thrown to second for a double play.

In the 11th the fans yelled with delight as old Jesse went in to bat for Crawford. Cooney had opened the inning with a two-bagger and then Jesse sacrificed and sent him to third but Zieser, who had relieved Williams, struck out the next two men.

The 12th opened with Lowell with a single and then stole second but the next two men fanned and the third hit a weak grounder. Burckett was playing right field. Billy McMahon opened the 12th with a two-bagger to the left field fence. Gardella in trying to beat a foul fly to Greenhalge, Gardella, who was the handy boy in the second McMahon, Greenhalge took Hawk's foul fly. Then with Carroll at bat Greenhalge caught a foul tip that opened his finger. Abner, who had previously batted for Williams, wasn't felled and so Stimpson came in from left field and Houser went into the field for him. Carroll hit to Moulton and died at first.

The 13th who thought the game was over had to come back for Lowell again but the score in the 12th. With two out, Moulton got a two-bagger and went to third when Stimpson hit to Page and went out at first. Then along came Barrows and he was purposely walked. Houser, the heavy hitting pitcher, got a scratch single over second and Moulton scored. Munn fled to Page.

In this inning Jesse shifted to left field, giving the right field to Cooney. Burckett asserted himself again in the 13th, for with one out he made Barrows go some in his long fly to centre. Weaver was on easy out. At this point Weaver was retired and Johnson went on the mound. The crowd showed its appreciation of Buck's good work by giving him a hand as he walked off the diamond. Johnson fanned Dee. Parker scored the eighth with a single. Zieser hit to Gardella, who threw to second for a double but McMahon was off the base and did not get the runner though he quickly threw to first and got Matty. With Parker on second, Stimpson fled out to Page.

The sun had almost sunk by this time and the crowd was willing to depart at most any time. Page died to Swayne. McMahon walked. McCles-

JOHNNY EVERS WILL NOT QUIT, BUT WILL STICK THE SEASON OUT

JOHNNY EVERS

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Johnny Evers, the field marshal of the world champion Braves, who recently declared that he would leave the Boston club at the conclusion of the series in St. Louis, has changed his mind and will stick to the Braves for the rest of the season. Manager Stallings had a long talk with the little second baseman and convinced him that the game needed him as well as the Braves. Later Evers announced he would play the season out. Things look brighter now to Johnny than they did when he gave out the statement that he would quit. Evers attributed his recent breakdown to the attack of pneumonia which almost killed him last winter and to the subsequent fracture of his leg. He has been unable to get any sleep until after 3 o'clock in the morning for several weeks, he said, and has suffered from heart attacks.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Swayne got a great hand as he robbed Hand of a hit by a fine catch in right field.

Your Uncle Munn is some fielder. He has a wide reach that he can use in all directions with equal accuracy.

Shorty Dee was very much in evidence. He felled like a charm and was there for two hits.

The game certainly was a heart-breaker and the players in each lineup forgot the intense heat in their efforts to win.

Joe Houser went into the game quite late but not too late to make a nice little hit and a batting average of .100 for the game.

McCleskey had 20 chances at first without an error. Munn had sixteen; some of Munn's pick-ups at first were particularly classy.

The more we see of some of the club managers the more firmly convinced are we that Manager Keelcher is a perfect gentleman on the field under all conditions.

Cy Williams had some good stuff and his work looked well. He was not pulled-out because he was going bad.

FOSTER BEST PITCHER

Red Sox Twirler Leading League—Cobb and Doyle Leading Batters—Three Red Sox Over .300

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Capt. Larry Doyle of the New York Giants, who some time ago located himself at the head of the National league batsmen, continues to hold that position with 325, according to averages published here today. All the leaders had slight slumps. Others in the first ten class are: Snyder, St. Louis 326; Daubert, Brooklyn 319; Merkle, New York 310; Grech, Cincinnati 304; Wade Kilmer, Cincinnati 303; Saler, Chicago 300; Luderus, Philadelphia 295; Long, St. Louis 295; J. Smith, Boston 297. Cincinnati and St. Louis are tied for first place in club batting, each having .255 while New York is next with .252.

Doyle in addition to leading the league in batting holds the honors as a run-getter with 59. Crawford, Philadelphia, who is sixteenth in the batting column, leads in total bases with 170, and also holds the home run record with 15. Carey, Pittsburgh, leads in stolen bases with 29.

Maxxus, Pittsburgh, crept into the lead among the "900" class pitchers in the league with 17 wins and 5 defeats. Others in the select class are: Pierce, Chicago 16 and 3; Alexander, Philadelphia 20 and 7; S. Smith, Brooklyn 11 and 4; Ragan, Boston 14 and 7.

Cobb continues to lead the American league in batting, although he has slumped a few points since last week. His average is now .385. Others who are batting in the .300 class and who have played in at least half the games are: Jackson, Cleveland .334; Sparker, Boston .332; E. Collins, Chicago .330; Fournier, Chicago .318; Strunk, Philadelphia .317; McInnes, Philadelphia and Veatch, Detroit, .314; Crawford, Detroit .311; Lewis, Boston .308; Mail-sell, New York, .305; Gainer, Boston, .301.

Cobb holds the lead in runs scored, 104, and also strengthened his hold on the title of base stealer, having a total of 65. He is tied with his teammate Crawford for the lead in total bases with 193. Burns, Detroit, leads in home runs with 5.

Boston noted Detroit out of the lead in club batting with .268 while Jennings' men have .265. American league pitchers who have attained the "900" class are: Foster, Boston, 15 won, 4 lost; Wood, Boston, 12 and 4; Scott, Chicago, 17 and 6; Faber, Chicago, 18 and 8; Dauss, Detroit 16 and 8; Fisher, New York 14 and 7; Ayers, Washington 9 and 9; Johnson, Washington 17 and 10; Shore, Boston 10 and 6; Cavelsie, Detroit, 16 and 10; Boland, Detroit, and 5; Benz, Chicago 8 and 5; Gallia, Washington, 11 and 7; Dubuc, Detroit, 14 and 9.

GREEK SUMMER SCHOOL

CLOSING EXERCISES OF SUMMER SCHOOL AT 367 MARKET STREET TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

The closing of the Greek summer school at 367 Market street took place yesterday afternoon with fitting exercises and the place was visited by a large number of people. Great interest was manifested in the work of the school during the six weeks of the school and girls ranging in age from 13 to 18 years. Yesterday afternoon's exercises consisted of an address by the treasurer, Miss Emily Skilton and an entertainment consisting of Greek and English numbers by the pupils. There was also an exhibit of the manual work done during the school season and this particularly pleased the visitors, among whom was Miss Margaret Chryssakis, who is training as a nurse at the New England Baptist hospital at Roxbury at the royal command of the queen of Greece.

CRACK GOLFER KILLED

THOS. ANDERSON, EX-OPEN CHAMPION OF PENNSYLVANIA, WAS LEARNING TO RUN AUTOMOBILE

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 14.—Thomas Anderson, aged 30, widely known golfer, was killed near Montclair last night by being crushed under his automobile, which went over an embankment.

Anderson purchased the motor car this week and was learning to operate it. Two demonstrators were injured. The accident happened when Anderson lost control of the steering wheel.

Anderson was the professional golfer at the Montclair Golf club and a former open champion of Pennsylvania. He was born in Glasgow, Scot., and was a brother of the late William Anderson, former national golf champion of the United States.

INDUSTRIAL and STORE NEWS

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers' was in Maynard yesterday on organizing duties.

On Monday evening the Loomfixers' union will hold its regular meeting in the union quarters in the Runcle building. Business of much importance will come up for transaction.

Timothy Bourke, past president of the Laborers' union, is in the labor game in earnest again after a lengthy layoff caused by an injury to his leg. President Bourke is placed on one of the most important committees for the Labor day parade.

The special officers at the U. S. Cartridge Co. have not as yet donned their new uniforms, although it was said the initial appearance would be made by them on Wednesday evening of this week. The new officers are receiving their uniforms but are not willing to wear them before appearing in them, it is said.

Next week will be exceptionally busy in labor circles and the meeting halls promise to be taxed to capacity every night. A number of unions have yet to vote on participating in the Labor day parade while several of the labor organizations have not as yet elected their aids to the chief marshal.

Organizers from the International Association of Machinists can be expected in this city at any time now, according to prominent labor men of the city. They would have heard here a touch sooner but for the numerous strikes throughout New England. Vice President P. J. Conlin will also come to this city within a short time.

Organizer Daniel E. Whealan of the Root & Sho Workers' union has been busily engaged for the past week making arrangements for the open meeting to be held next week. Every morning the chief marshal has been up with the birds and at the different shop gates interviewing the workers for the purpose of getting them to attend the session to be held next week.

The erection of the new building and additions to the Lawrence street plant of the U. S. Cartridge Co. is going ahead at a rapid rate and the Andrews street building is nearly completed. The addition to the main building which was started only a few days ago, is also nearing completion. It is possible that employees will be put to work in the new addition within a few weeks.

American Woolen Co.

It is estimated that the American Woolen Co. has been so far ahead of what would sell in the market for $100,000 cash profit.

Domestic Sessions

Routine sessions were held last night by the Steamfitters' union at 22 Middle street and by Local 145, Millers' union in Carpenters' hall, Run- is building.

Textile Student

Warren Whitehall of Groton, Mass., has accepted a position at the Franklin Mills, Franklin, N. H., as chemist. He attended the Lowell Textile school and for a year and a half has been teaching chemistry.

Stage Employees

The members of the Stage Employees' union met in session late yesterday afternoon in the union quarters in Middle street and transacted a list of routine business.

Bricklayers' Union

The Bricklayers' union held its regular meeting in Cotton Spinning hall last night with a fair attendance. Reports of the treasurer and secretary showed the local to be in satisfactory condition financially and numerically.

Great Prosperity

The war in Europe has brought to the fate mills of Italy great prosperity because of the enormous demand for jute bags. This field ought to be a good one for American jute mills since the foreign mills cannot begin to fill the demand.

Digelow-Hartford Soldier

James Mitchell, an assistant superintendent at the Clinton plant of the Digelow-Hartford Carpet Co. is to sail for New York August 21 for England, where he intends to enter the army. Mitchell has made all arrangements for his trip back to England. Just what branch of the service he will enter he does not know.

Industrial Prize

The shield which was won by the Arlington mills at the recent industrial carnival has been received at the mill. The shield is a handsome one, suitably inscribed, and will be a cherished thing on the part of the employees of the mills. It has been placed over the main entrance to the office and will remain the property of the Arlington mills until such time as they are beaten.

Woolen Spinners

A meeting was held last night by Local 599, Woolen Spinners' union, at which four new members were admitted and four applications were received. The organization now has a membership of 106 and is growing each week. A committee has been appointed to secure pennants for Labor day and it was unanimously voted to turn out in the holiday parade. Fred Mealey was appointed aide to the chief marshal.

Valiant Service

When the Summit House at Jefferson, Mass., caught fire a few days ago, the Jefferson fire well known head of the Jefferson fire company rendered valuable service by his prompt action in getting out his large touring car and getting to the fire in short order. He did everything he could for the fire-stricken guests of the summer hotel and carried a large number of them to various hotels and private homes where they were taken care of in cool shade.

Greek Open Meeting

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the members of the Greek community will assemble at the Greek Orthodox church where they will be addressed by organizers connected with the labor forward movement of this city and by Editor Nouras. The meeting is for the purpose of getting the workers to join their respective trade organizations. The meeting will be presided over by Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers.

Machinists' Union, 138

Local 135, Machinists' union held its regular meeting in the Middle street quarters of the organization last night at which considerable business of importance was transacted. Five new members were initiated and several applications for membership were received. A number of committees were organized, progressive reports and the secretary read a lengthy report which showed the union to be in excellent financial condition.

To Be Principal Speaker

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers was in Maynard yesterday helping complete arrangements for the Labor day observance in that town. He will be one of the principal speakers at the Monday demonstration to be held there and President John Golden has also agreed to make an address. Monday Organizer McMahon will go to Boston where a meeting for the purpose of starting a new organization of textile workers will be started in Central Labor hall.

SWIMMING RACES

Frank Murphy of Lowell will accompany Miss Kershaw, the 15-year-old swimmer, in her attempt to go from Nahant to Beverly tomorrow. On next Thursday Murphy and Curry will appear in a swimming race at Lakeside.

REALTY NEWS OF THE WEEK

Armenian National Church in Lawrence Street—Big Building Boom on Way

The erection of a new edifice for the members of the Armenian National Apostolic Church of this city will be among the most important of the building operations of the near future. The new church will be built in Lawrence street nearly opposite Tyler street. The secretary of the church is M. D. Manichian, who resides at 283 Central street.

The dimensions of the new house of worship of the Armenian National Apostolic society will be 24 by 64 feet, and it will consist of one story and basement. There will be a vestibule on the front measuring 14 feet square. The seating capacity of the structure will be about 250 seats and the estimated cost is $5000. The church will have a stone foundation and a steam heating plant will be installed.

Real Estate Outlook

Prominent real estate dealers of this city have stated that business in that field shows a decided tendency to grow more brisk. The exceedingly unfavorable weather of the past week or two had a bad effect upon the business and doubtless lessened the sales. However, judging from the indications, there is bound to be a steady increase of business through the fall.

There is considerable activity throughout the city as is evidenced by the number of permits granted at city hall.

J. Alfred Pinard is building a garage at 36 Harris avenue at the corner of D street. The building will have dimensions of 22 by 24 feet and will be built of wood and concrete. The cost is placed at $350.

The Lowell News Co. will have a storage shed constructed in the rear of their establishment at 138 French street. It will be 13 feet by eight feet in size.

A dwelling of two apartments of five rooms, pantry and bath each, will be constructed for Thomas J. Phelps at 14-142 Bellevue street. It will be two and one-half stories in height and the cost is estimated at $2500.

Francis Vahey is building a small office structure to be used as an office for himself. Its location is at a point between 637 and 649 Lakeview avenue.

A single apartment dwelling of six rooms, pantry and bath, and one and one-half stories in height will be built at 135 B street for Frank E. Harris. It will be heated by steam and the cost will be approximately $2100.

Harry J. Corwin is to build a modern residence at 93 Holyrood avenue.

There will be one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath, and the estimated cost is $3500.

Peter H. Savage is building a new store front at 410 Market street and remodeling the front portion of the property.

The Royal theatre, situated on upper Merrimack street and controlled by George Hussain, is to have a new gallery with a seating capacity of 300. The height of the building will be considerably increased, a new fire escape will be constructed on the exterior of the building and the interior will be generally remodeled and renewed. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $5000.

Clara B. Knapp is to have the barn at 157 A street changed over into a two and one-half story two family dwelling. The work will cost $2000.

The single apartment dwelling at 95 Andrews street is being remodeled by the owner, Winfred Sullivan, into a two family dwelling. This will necessitate considerable addition and alteration. Cost $1200.

George Hoven is remodeling his property at 105 Church street.

Luke Duffy is changing the front of the house at 60 West street into a store and will build an addition for a new store front.

ANCIENT STONE STAIRCASE

While engaged in carrying out structural alterations at an old hotel at Poole, England, the workmen discovered what is considered to be a secret stone spiral staircase associated with the smuggling days. The premises date back 200 to 300 years. The staircase had been ingeniously constructed in the wall, with a stout beam on the outside. Entrance thereto is presumed to have been made through a cupboard placed on the right hand side, and from the ground floor to the first floor there are niches in the wall for the feet, above being a series of steps. In the side of the wall about four feet from the ground is a square framed cavity, through which contraband goods were passed.

There is also an old-fashioned door containing ancient light, upon the glass in one of which has been scratched "William Milner, Junior, November 8th, 1753, Custom House, Poole."

BUILDING IN SOUTHERN GREECE

In discussing the building activity which has developed in southern Greece since the cessation of hostilities in the Balkan Peninsula, Consul Agent R. L. Wilson writes that the typical structure of Kalamata is square and two stories in height, surmounted by a sloping tiled roof. The stone used for the foundations and walls is brought from quarries located a short distance from the city, several grades being obtainable. A brownish sandstone is used for facing, while soft and inferior building stone and a dark limestone which resembles flint are used as a filler. Sand and gravel are carted from the bed of the river, which divides the town, or from the seashore a mile distant.

As the walls of a house are built up holes running entirely through the wall are left at frequent intervals. Into these holes are wedged short pieces of timber, which are made to support the scaffolding. By this method the builder avoids erecting costly scaffolding having the ground as a base. When the walls have been plastered and all exterior work completed the supports are removed and the holes filled up.

Formerly heavy wooden beams were used as supports over window openings and doorways for all classes of girder work, but steel imported from Belgium and Germany is now generally employed for such purposes. Roofs are constructed with wooden rafters, struts, ridges, etc.

Split cane is sometimes used instead of ordinary roof boards, on which to lay the tile that invariably form the covering.

The interior arrangements are extremely simple. Where latrine is needed split cane is again used. The rooms and halls are finished and plastered and the walls sometimes tinted; never papered. Flooring and trim, including the bathroom, is brought from Russia. There is no gas. Electric wiring may be arranged when the building is completed.

The only plumbing in the majority of houses is a drain which leads into the cesspool. This drain is usually flushed by water carried by hand, though in some of the hotels and a few of the better residences water is pumped from the well (the latter about 30 ft. deep and 4 ft. in diameter) into a tank at the top of the house. Lead piping is used to distribute the water.

The kitchen is the only room in the house containing any equipment. Here, for or five fire pots and a stone or cement sink are built into the wall. A hood is usually arranged to catch the gas given off by the fire. Hinges, locks, latches and other articles of hardware are imported from Austria and Germany. A low grade glass used in all buildings is brought from Belgium.

The question of labor is not a serious one. Good men can be hired for from 55 cents to $1.25 a day. Little or no distinction is made between a mason and a carpenter; a good workman knows both of these trades, as far as local conditions require. He begins by putting in foundations and building walls and continues even to fitting windows and doors.

Women are often seen breaking stone, or carrying sand or working as helpers; they receive 30 to 50 cents a day.—Building Age.

NEW SCHEDULE OF WAGES

The new wage and working rules agreement that was recently made with the Masters Carpenters association of Boston has been ratified by the Greater Boston Carpenters district council and the new schedule will date from July 1 of the present year, when the carpenters will be paid 57c an hour for a 5½-day week. Beginning July 1, 1916, the wage will be increased to 60c, and during June, July and August of that year the five-day week will be in force. Under the old agreement carpenters were paid 55c an hour for a 5½-day week of 41 hours.

DELAYED STREET WORK

Not only did the protracted rain work considerable damage throughout the city, necessitating many minor repairs, but it has held back a great deal of street construction and repair that would now be nearing completion. For many weeks it was impossible to go ahead with any important improvement, and the department was forced to mark time, hoping the while for fair and settled weather. The chances for a few months of mild and favorable weather now seem good, and, though late, it is expected that the full program of street improvements will be carried out. Commissioner Morse has planned for much extra work in the near future and the working force is larger than usual at this season, owing to the need for speedy construction in the time remaining before snow flies.

The work now being carried on in High street will be a considerable improvement to that part of the city, being a continuation of the link between the Boston routes in that direction and the center. It is essential that the roads and streets running through our finest park section should represent the best in local highway maintenance. Still more notable, when completed will be the improvement of Rogers street, a long delayed but very necessary reform. The work already accomplished gives a good idea of what the completed street will look like, and it is to be regretted that the rain prevented greater activity for some time past. Rogers street will be a worthy entrance to the city when the sustaining walls are erected at all points, when the tracks are relocated and the roadbed is put in condition.

The work in upper Merrimack street is also going ahead steadily in spite of unfavorable weather conditions. This is an important and progressive section of the city, and the people there deserve the interest which the city is taking in its street improvement. Work on Chelmsford street, Hale street and Elm street should not be long delayed, for all three streets stand in need of immediate repair. Besides the larger jobs, the street department is attending to more minor repairs than usual. This is a good sign, and indicates recognition of the need for constant repair work. If some of the smaller flaws were attended to more promptly in the past, Lowell would not now have so many heavy tasks confronting its streets department. The upkeep of sidewalks, crossings, etc., and the constant filling in of surface holes will prevent many a heavy expenditure for street repair later. In no department is it more necessary to take the stitch in time, and it would seem that in many phases of street work, the department in charge is taking timely stitches at present. With favorable weather and without unforeseen obstructions, Commissioner Morse ought to have a good program of improvement to show for the present season. Street construction and upkeep necessitate heavy expenditures, but the people complain only when great sums are spent without anything to show for the expenditure.

THRILLS THAT KILL

In Des Moines the other day one of the drivers at an automobile race was killed and two others were fatally hurt. There is nothing specially uncommon about the case and it is to be hoped that those who attended got their money's worth. It may be that they regretted the accidents, but in the last analysis they attended because they wanted to be thrilled by a game in which there was continual danger of death for the participants.

In this advanced and humane age when so many movements have been started to benefit mankind it is strange to see many otherwise excellent people patronize dangerous exhibitions. We have such acts at our theatres, at the circus, at the summer amusement parks—everywhere. Crowds soon grow tired of the most wonderful exploits unless there is danger connected with them. When aviation was first demonstrated, many attended to see the flights, but it soon became monotonous, and the dare devil aeronauts soon found it necessary to invent thrills. How we have the aeroplanes that loop the loop and fly wrong side up, and if the daring flyer meets his fate occasionally there is always somebody to take his place and the crowds are ever ready to egg them on. It is only necessary to hint at a possible fatality at an automobile race or aviation meet, and the crowd will be there in great expectancy.

Promoters of amusements say that they only give the people what they want in the thrills, but this is a poor excuse. A contemporary points out that the same excuse could be applied to Nero who invented some rare sensations and seems to have had the instinct of the real showman. If the people want to

FOR MOTOR AMBULANCE

In common with most up-to-date cities Lowell has approved of motorized municipal apparatus, and there is continual agitation for many more motorized fire engines. Little is said about the necessity for a motor ambulance, but this city stands badly in need of such an improvement. It is a reproach to us that while we are spending such liberal amounts for the purchase of civic vehicles and automobiles for the use of department heads and other officials, we still tolerate horse-drawn ambulances.

With the many demands now made on the ambulance station, it is impossible for those in charge to give perfect service, and all who read accident reports know that complaints are numerous. In many cases, the response is tardy, through no fault of the ambulance driver or the board of health, and in other cases, the ambulance is called to take somebody to the hospital whose life is only a matter of minutes. It is not at all unreasonable to suppose that many lives would have been saved during the last five years if the city had a motorized ambulance with its attendant advantages. In a matter of life and death, such as the response to calls for an ambulance, the city should not be swayed by the question of cost. We have several autos that could be dispensed with without considerable hardship to the public, but we cannot long do without an auto ambulance if we are to keep in line with municipal progress everywhere.

With an auto ambulance or ambulances, equipped with a pump motor and modern conveniences, the city could respond to calls for help immediately, and in some cases timely aid could be given sooner than a pallid could be cared for at the hospital. The citizens are paying for protection in the health department as well as the fire department and there will not be adequate protection or ambulance service until we have one or more motor ambulances. They are needed far more than some things over which some of our officials work themselves into a fever of agitation, but in a political sense the need is not so pressing, and the immediate rewards may not look so alluring.

THE PLAIN PEOPLE

There are no books more common than biographies of the great, and no literature attracts more general attention. The wonderful soldier, the philosopher, the poet, the idealist, all leave their personality enshrined in the history of their time, and many of them exert a powerful influence for centuries afterwards, if not for all time. The plain people live and die in a round of uneventful days and their words or deeds are not often chronicled by the masters of language. Grey's famous "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard" recounts the paths and the inspiration of their lives and occasionally some thinker pauses to consider what a great influence for good on the world of today and the world of the future is the salutary and unconscious influence of "the plain people." This thought finds graceful and striking expression in a recent article by Rev. Smith Baker. Following is an excerpt:

A man's goodness is not revealed by some eloquent speech but by what he does. Life is no newspaper reporters come. One hundred and sixty years ago a young man, Barnabas Baker, married a young woman, Abigail Smith. They settled in a country town in what is now Kennebunk county. Neither of them had a college or even a high school education and only the slightest opportunity, and from this country church of plain people have come into the world seventeen preachers, twenty-three deacons, with a large number of school teachers and doctors. But they were not the only ones. This never saw a steam engine or a telephone or an automobile or an electric car. Plain people they were, and on their tombstones are only the date of their death and ages. Yet thousands of wealthy people who have lived in stately mansions and thousands of scholars who have written learned books and thousands of eloquent orators who have charmed multitudes have not done one-hundredth as much for their country as these plain people from the townstones only tell us lived and died. God bless the plain people!

This beautiful thought in its charming expression might seem provincial and old fashioned to the votaries of the modern but it will commend itself to the "plain people"—and there are still a great many left.

AUTOS VS. JOBS

The postoffice department is facing quite a dilemma in deciding between efficiency or practical politics in reforming the rural delivery service. It is considering the question of covering the rural delivery field with an automobile corps instead of the one-horse vehicle, but though the advantages are obvious and the ultimate saving great, the improvement would turn half the rural carriers out of their jobs. As the carriers are organized, they will not submit tamely to such a government reform and are very emphatic in their declarations concerning it. While one can find some reasons for excusing the thousands of letter carriers who oppose the proposed scheme, it must be admitted that the principle for which they fight is dangerous, as it would put personal advantage before the good of the country as a whole. If the government shall save many millions a year by the scheme it should be adopted, but some provision should be made if possible for those who may be thrown out of work. There are arguments on both sides, but when all is said, the truth remains that the demands of the country are ahead of the personal interests of any group or class.

PEACE SENTIMENT

There may be no positive hope of speedy peace as yet but there are indications of the growth of a peace sentiment among the belligerents. This is shown by the disposition of newspapers in the warring countries to discourse on possible peace terms, and even though all the powers flout the idea of a peace that would entail respective sacrifices, the very fact that they talk about peace in any light is gratifying. As yet the governments do not give much hope of giving up the struggle, but among the many peoples peace would be welcomed, provided it does not come in a guise that no nation could accept were it not obliged to. The neutral world would certainly like to see a cessation of hostilities before another winter campaign, and it looks as though some of the belligerents have similar aspirations. Let us hope that with the dawn of peace will come plans for the propagation of permanent peace among all nations. The world is tottering now beneath the burden of war and all its attendant miseries.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you have not seen the unusual and highly artistic interpretation of "The Vampire," with Mme. Petrova in the lead, the chances are that three days at Keith's theatre, then take the most of what little chance remains. This wonderful picturized version of a really wonderful play is artistic in its trust and sense and must be seen to be fully appreciated. Mme. Petrova, who has won many admirers in local circles in the past, is seen in particular advantage. Her emotional work is beyond criticism, while the support she is given is quite in keeping with her own efforts. This afternoon and tonight are the last presentations. "Work" is another of those Charlie Chaplin comedy creations—the very latest—and it has as many laughs to it as any of the others. Next week the management presents for the first three days of the week, starting Monday matinee, Frank L. Packard's novel drama, "Greater Love Hath No Man," with Emmet Corrigan in the lead, while the last three

Hidden Dangers

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Lowell Citizen Can Afford to Ignore

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They tell you when the kidneys are weak. Well known exerts a clear, amber fluid. Disordered kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, suggest weak kidneys and in that case warn you of the danger of dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by thousands. Here's Lowell proof:

Laurence B. Eaton, 24 Broadway, Lowell, says: "My kidneys were very weak and I had to get up every little while at night to pass the kidney secretions. My kidneys were congested and the secretions contained a brick-dust-like sediment. I suffered terribly in passing. My back pained me very much and most of the time it annoyed me so that I could hardly do anything. One of the neighbors had used Doan's Kidney Pills so I got some. I used box after box and they gradually corrected the action of my kidneys and cleared up the kidney secretions. My back is now as strong as ever due to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for "Doan's Kidney Pills." Doan's Kidney Pills are the same that Mr. Eaton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

AS GODDESS OF NEW YORK MISS WILLIS SEES PROMISED LAND

MISS PORTIA WILLIS AS GODDESS OF NEW YORK

Like the beacon fires of the revolution which signaled the struggle for liberty from the high places of this land, the Interborough Council Fires of the suffragists flashed from the heights of Greater New York the spirit of the woman's crusade of today for liberty, equality and justice. In every borough they were lighted, and their friendly gleams, caught and reflected from one to the other, were typical of the unity of purpose inspiring the workers in this greatest democratic movement of the ages. The campfire of the borough of Manhattan was lighted on the edge of a cliff on Washington Heights, overlooking the river and the city at its foot. The call of the "Battle Cry of Freedom" from a trumpet blown by Miss Emily Kahn announced the opening of the grand blaze of a second trumpet was heard in reply. Stepping into the circle beside the campfire Miss Portia Willis, daughter of former Congressman Bonjamin Willis of New York, representing the Goddess of New York, demanded of the seers of the fire the fortune in store for New York's disfranchised daughters. "How long must my daughters wait, O seers?" And shall my sons give them their freedom next November? Too long have they been denied their place in the councils of the state and of the nation." And the seers replied: "Great things are at hand, O New York, for thy daughters! Let them keep the watch fires burning and soon the promised land shall unfold to their sight." Miss Willis wore the flowing robes of the Greek goddess and carried the great shield and spear of New York. She was accompanied by Miss Virginia Thorburn, dressed in the fashion of the orient, her face partly concealed by a heavy veil to typify the political slavery in which the women of New York are still held. The seers were impersonated by Mrs. Kate Morris.

That big banner bill of vaudeville and pictures that has caused such favorable comment among the patrons of Canobie Lake Park theatre will be offered for the last time this evening and should attract big crowds for many feature acts as are to be found in the present unusual program.

For Sunday there will be something going on all day long, the majority of the park attractions being open and to 5 o'clock a free band concert will be given in the theatre under the following program will be rendered: March—"Tropic to Tropic" Overture—"Orpheus" Nymphs Solo—Selected Selection—"Prince of Pilsen" Tedley

Patrons—"We Won't Go Home Till Morning" Waltz—"Venus Wilden" Excerpts from "Wizard of Oz" "Characteristics for Trombones" Finale—"Recollections of the War" From 5 to 10 o'clock continuous the theatre will present another of these banner bills of photographs. While the titles of Massachusetts are compelled to choose Sunday pictures from a limited list, the theatre at Canobie has no such restrictions, and while the programs include only the cleanest and most wholesome subjects, there is an abundance of thrills in the many subjects which have not as yet been submitted to the Massachusetts censors.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE This is the last day to see dainty Blanche Sweet, or "Sweet Blanche" as her many admirers are wont to affectionately call her, in her latest triumph, "The Secret Orchard." In this play Blanche Sweet, the very popular actor, also is starring, so you can see this play he sees more than is usually offered in motion pictures. The theme of this well staged and well acted photo-drama is of universal interest, dealing as it does with the all-important problem of predestination, and its relation to heredity. Miss Sweet appears in the sympathetic role of "Blanche" and to this role she lends all her potent charms. The other pictures to be seen today for the last time are the four-act drama, "The Runaway Wife," a Charlie Chaplin comedy and the Paramount travel pictures. For the Sunday concert tomorrow a fine program of interesting photographs has been booked and they are pictures which you will greatly enjoy in this cool and comfortable theatre.

SPALDING LIGHT CAVALRY The Spalding Light Cavalry association of Westford held its annual outing, supper and entertainment on Thursday with about 150 members and friends present, some of whom were from Concord, Littleton, Billerica, Groton, Tappanville, Canfield, Lowell and Westford. The affair was held at the Whitney playgrounds and proved a staggering success. A long list of sports was carried out and a good dinner was served. The annual election of officers took place with the following result: President, Capt. Sherman H. Fletcher; vice president, Capt. Horace Wilcox; secretary, Hon. Herbert B. Fletcher; treasurer, Sgt. Charles B. Bartlett; finance committee, Capt. John J. Monahan of Chelmsford, Lieut. W. J. Quigley of Chelmsford, Sgt. Caleb L. Smith of Lowell.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of Hon. Edward Fisher and John Peeney.

BOY SCOUTS' ENTERTAIN The Hillside church grounds in Dracut was last night the scene of a large gathering, the occasion being a lawn party under the auspices of the Boy Scouts, Troop 11, and the affair proved a delightful event.

The attendance was large and the decorations were handsome. During the evening music was furnished by the life and drum corps detachment of Pawtucketville Boy Scouts' troop. A feature of the evening was the midway which was in charge of George Stodley and which contained about every amusement imaginable. Tables and booths had been placed about the lawn and those in charge reported a thriving business.

Raymond Stevens had general charge of the evening's program and he was assisted by Edward Gunther, George Stodley, Frederick Stevens, Christie Gunther, Walter Giffin, Vernon Bickford, John Potts and William Charlton.

THE NATIONAL FORESTS

TIMBER SALES, GRAZING AND OTHER RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN OF MORE THAN $10,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The national forests turned into the U. S. treasury during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915, nearly $2,500,000, an increase of more than $10,000 over the receipts of the previous year, according to a statement just issued by the forest service. The timber sales, which amounted to $1,644,000, yielded on account of the depressed condition of the lumber industry about $75,000 less than those of the previous fiscal year, but the gain was made possible by larger revenues from other sources. The grazing receipts, which totaled $1,125,000, increased $127,000 over last year, and the water power receipts, which amounted to not quite $300,000, showed an increase of nearly $12,000.

The demoralization of the turpentine industry on account of the war's curtailment of the naval stores market caused the receipts from the sale of turpentine privileges on the national forests to drop in about $900, as against nearly $15,000 last year. The sale of special use permits, under which all sorts of enterprises, from appliances to whaling stations, are operated on the forests, yielded nearly $78,000, an increase of $5000 over last year. There was a decrease of nearly $37,000 in the revenue derived by the settlement of trespass cases in which government timber had been cut without intent to defraud, the revenue from this source being only a little more than $3000. More than $7000, however, was collected from other timber trespass cases. Grazing trespass cases yielded nearly $6000, an increase of about $1000; occupancy trespass cases, which occurred in only one of the seven districts, turned in something less than $250; about $10 was derived from turpentine trespass cases, and $650 from fire trespass cases, the latter being more than $7000 less than the amount collected in the previous fiscal year for damage to government property through fires carelessly or willfully started in or near national forests.

REPRESENTATIVES OF STRIKING HOLYOKE CARMEN MAKE PROTEST TO GOV. WALSH

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—A conference on the attitude of the state board of conciliation and arbitration in connection with the strike of the employees of the Holyoke Street Railway company was held yesterday afternoon at the state house between Gov. Walsh and John H. Wood, president of the Massachusetts Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, P. J. O'Brien of Springfield, and Peter J. Rooney of Worcester.

Following the conference Gov. Walsh said he would take no further steps in the matter of the contest made by the labor men against Commissioner Charles C. Wood until he has had an opportunity to discuss the situation with the board of conciliation and arbitration. He will call the members before him on Monday, it is understood. The governor expressed surprise that only a single member of the board had been on the ground to adjust the differences between the Holyoke company and their employees.

Mr. Reardon told the reporters that the employees wished to enter a protest against the way that Commissioner Wood, who has been at Holyoke for the past several days, is handling the situation.

"We came to the state house to protest against the unfair attitude taken by Commissioner Wood," Mr. Reardon said. "He has been assuming more authority than the law gives him. Commissioner Wood was supposed to be a board as a representative of the em-

PAN-AMERICAN ENVOYS CALL ON WARRING MEXICAN CHIEFS TO END INTERNAL STRIFE

PAN-AMERICANS SEEKING PEACE IN MEXICO

Secretary of State John Lansing and representatives of six South and Central American republics signed an appeal addressed to the leaders of all factions in Mexico. It calls upon them in the name of humanity and national patriotism to end civil strife and meet in a peace conference. Armed intervention in Mexico was not considered at the conference, which was held in the Biltmore hotel, New York. The Latin American countries represented were Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala. Only the first steps toward bringing about peace in war-torn Mexico were taken by the conference. The session lasted for two hours, and at its close Secretary Lansing told briefly what had been accomplished. "We have assented or agreed," he said, "to a proposition that a communication should be addressed to the different factions in Mexico appealing to them to compose their differences. We also have agreed upon the form we will recommend to our respective governments with reference to the recognition of a government in Mexico." The appeal, which is brief and courteously phrased, calls upon the Mexicans to consider the injurious effect throughout the world which the constant turbulence in Mexico has caused. The petition suggests that a peace conference be held on neutral territory in Mexico far from the roar of cannon. The governments signing it express their willingness to act, if invited, in any practicable way to assist in bringing the various factions together for the conference. The communication will be given the widest publicity throughout Mexico and will be delivered by the diplomatic and consular agents of the various governments signatory to it. Replies are definitely asked for, the hope being expressed that these will be received within ten days after the communication reaches the leaders, unless some just cause for delay presents itself. The accompanying photographs were taken on the day of the conference at the Biltmore hotel. They are, left to right, Ignacion Calderon of Bolivia, Federico Alfonso Pezet, Peru; Eduardo Suarez Mujica, Chile, and Domelio da Gama, Brazil.

LEE WAS DOPEY SIXTH REGIMENT

Man Claiming Lowell as His Home Under Arrest in Portland

A young man claiming to be Miles J. Lee, 20, of this city, was arrested yesterday morning at Portland, Me., and held on a charge of breaking and entering the office of Dr. Frank Leyenberg, 359 Congress street, that city, last Tuesday night and the larceny of about 300 morphine tablets and considerable paraphernalia. Lee said he is a cook by trade and formerly worked in local restaurants. The city directory does not contain any such name.

Lee was arrested in the lower corridor in city hall by Police Officer Strout, and it is alleged that the man was partly under the influence of some drug when the arrest was made. A bottle containing a small amount of morphine, which is identified by Dr. Leyenberg as his property, together with a full set of hypodermic needles and keys or "dope" paraphernalia was found in Lee's possession, and he was later identified by Dr. Leyenberg as the man who twice called at his office under different names for the purpose of securing morphine prescriptions. Two keys, one of which fitted the door of Dr. Leyenberg's office and the other one of the chambers in the house were also found on Lee.

Dealt the Robbery.

Lee denied the robbery, but was held for the municipal court on the charge of breaking and entering in the night time and larceny.

The Leyenberg case was reported to the police last Tuesday night shortly after 11 o'clock. In the absence of the physician some one forced a window leading into his office, unlocked a medicine cabinet with a bunch of keys found in the room and got away with 300 morphine tablets. No clue of any consequence was left except the description given by Dr. Leyenberg of a man describing himself upon one occasion as H. W. Scholfield and at another time as Thomas Harahan, who applied for a morphine prescription at the doctor's office.

Yesterday morning about 9:30, as Officer Strout was passing through the

Lowell Boys Are Coming Home Tomorrow—6th Regiment Band Back

SANDWICH, Aug. 11.—The camp at Peter's pond was drenched by a heavy shower early yesterday forenoon, but the weather clearing, there was an inspection of quarters and arms, followed by the instruction of the entire regiment by Capt. McCoy, U. S. A., in cooking and outpost work.

Following dinner, the canvas having dried out, the big pyramidal tents were struck, rolled and transported to Sandwich station in readiness for the homeward movement on Sunday. All the heavy baggage will be hauled to the station tomorrow, so that the final breaking of camp can be done expeditiously and smoothly. The Sixth regiment band came back to Lowell last night.

Immediately following dinner preparations were begun for the maneuvers. The men rolled their belongings in their shelter tent halves and, slinging their rolls across their shoulders, were ready for the order to march. Maj. Kittredge's battalion was the first away, passing out of the camp at 2:30, followed by the battalion of Capt. Stewart at 2:45, Maj. Dolans at 3 and the machine gun company at 3:15. Each battalion commander was supposed to take a different route, but Maj. Dolans in marching over the West Barnstable road nearly ran into Maj. Kittredge and was obliged to halt until the road ahead was clear.

Last night scouts from all the battalions were combing the woods and fields endeavoring to locate their enemy, while outposts and pickets were posted on all the roads in the vicinity of South Sandwich and along the Barnstable pike.

The strength of the regiment during this encampment has been the largest in its history, but 10 men out of its complement having been reported absent. The discipline of the regiment has also attracted favorable notice from military visitors and, taken all in all, Col. Sweetser has good reason to be pleased.

CAMP NOTES

The members of the Sixth Regiment band arrived home last evening in high spirits over their big success for they were complimented on all sides, and so well did Col. Sweetser like their work that he added a dollar to each man's pay out of his own pocket.

The band gave a concert Thursday

evening with Captain Jeyes as master of ceremonies.

Company G won the tug-of-war contest.

Sergeant Sturgis of the Machine Gun Co. introduced a novelty called "Are you there?" The contestants are blindfolded and lie down, each holding the other by one hand, while the other hand each carries a big wad of paper. At the question, "Are you there?" each tries to hit the other on the head with the paper, and he who muffs his opponent three times, wins. Some fun.

Drum Major Miner, who has made a big hit with the band, nearly broke his ankle Thursday morning. He stumbled over a mosquito that was slumbering in the road.

The regular army officers present complimented the band upon its general good work. The band had a marching drill conducted by Lieut. Canby of the Ninth.

Company B of Fitchburg had two Swede cooks, O'Connell and Murphy, and they were some cooks.

Company G entertained the band by initiating the rookies among the band men in the company street.

"Quill" Sturtevant had a fine time Thursday when he renewed old acquaintances with a friend of the old Salem Cavalry band with which Mr. Sturtevant played long ago. His friend likes music, but doesn't play much.

Harry McKinley made a big hit with the officers.

Billy Griffiths had an important engagement and had to flag the concert Thursday.

The members of the band all put on weight, due in a large measure to the efficiency of their cooks, Bill Parks and Bill Benoit.

Ed. Atwood's horse found it hard to become accustomed and had a case of colic just when Ed. was busiest.

Bill Looney gained eight pounds but he expects to work it off in a few fat men's races.

EMISSARY FROM MEXICO

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 14.—Rudolph Herler, an emissary from old Mexico, is under arrest here today on a charge of inciting Pueblo county Mexicans to prepare to join in an insurrection of Mexicans in southern Texas.

Papers in his possession, the police say, prove that he came here for the purpose of enlisting local Mexicans in the ranks of the revolutionists. Herler is credited with being supplied with adequate funds to carry out the plan. Mexican laborers in the smelters and at the steel works already had enlisted in large numbers since last Monday, the day Herler arrived in this city.

Herler is credited with being one of the fathers of the "San Diego plan." By this scheme Mexicans are said to have contemplated the death of all American males over 15 years old along the Mexican border.

THE SPELLBINDER

We'll know Monday morning who's to be who on the state ticket this year, for the time for filing nomination papers closes this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Then the state campaign will begin and locally the contests to be fought hardest will be for sheriff and for representative, while, of course, there will be considerable quiet work done among the republicans by the friends of Messrs. McCall and Cushing. Prominent republicans are beginning to show concern over the repeated talk of the democrats taking part in the republican contests, for while at first they were inclined to believe that such action would be confined to scattered individuals they now believe that in some quarters concerted effort is to be made by the democrats in behalf of and against certain republican candidates. The new form of balloting was experimented with recently in another city, and the result showed 25 per cent of those upon whom the experiment was tried failed to observe the condition imposed that while a voter has the privilege of voting for the candidate of any one of the parties, he cannot vote for a single candidate of another party without invalidating his entire ballot. If a voter, for instance, starts his ballot by crossing the name of Hon. David I. Walsh, for governor, he cannot vote for any republican candidate; he must vote for democrats throughout and if he votes at all, or else even his vote for Governor Walsh will be lost.

Inadequate Fire Protection

No section of Lowell has grown so rapidly and gives such promise of future growth as the upper Highlands district, and the latest protest to the municipal council comes from the Highlands, or, at least, is on its way, for a petition is in circulation protesting against the removal of the two horses from the chemical engine stationed at the corner of Westford and Lane streets. At the present time the horses have gone somewhere and the men at the house have been reduced in number, it is said, to four, so that in the event of an alarm ringing during night hours there are but two men at the house to respond with the apparatus. It is understood that the horses with four others are at pasture until for work, and hence it would seem that substitutes should be employed or else motor apparatus purchased. Way back in 1885, Mayor Palmer saw the need of a firehouse in the Highlands district which was then just beginning to open three firehouses and three schoolhouses. There were three firms of architects in Lowell at that time, each got two buildings. The city council purchased the corner lot at Westford and Lane streets and paid only $4600 for it, although there was a two-story house on it. The house was purchased from the city by the late John Leander and was moved to Horne street where it stands today. A substantial building was then erected and it has done service ever since. Since the district began to grow the chemical engine there has proved its worth in many ways. It is a district where in the dry season many incipient fires smolder which if not promptly extinguished might easily cause great damage to property. One day last spring the Westford street chemical engine was called out seven times to attend to such fires. A chemical engine of particular value in that part of the Highlands in the vicinity of St. Margaret's church, for the land is so high at this point that the pressure in the hydrants is very low and without the chemical a fire might get a big start while the engines were attempting to get water from the hydrants. The residents of that district are mostly men of business, who leave their homes in the morning and in many cases do not return until evening. While they know that the district is protected by a chemical engine they go to their business without any undue worry for the folk who live in that part of the city. The chemical has been crippled and may be denied them altogether, they are to protest and to protest vigorously.

It has been argued that the Branch street apparatus can look after the needs of the district, even in the event of the removal of the Westford street chemical. But when one considers that the Branch street companies are located almost in the heart of the lumber district and in a section that has furnished most of Lowell's biggest fires, the question arises, What becomes of the Highlands if a fire should break out in the upper district while the Branch street company is engaged elsewhere? In a very short time it will be necessary to locate another company in the upper Highlands as a result of the great and continuous growth of that section, but until the time the residents want the Westford street chemical equipped with horses and men or a motor chemical installed, and on the job all the time.

The fire department, it is said, has six horses unfit for work and a piece of apparatus in Centralville that is likely to fall in pieces at any old time. Yet somewhere in this city a treasury of $15,000, appropriated last March for the purchase of fire apparatus, is lying idle, and unless the orders for new motor apparatus are put in within a very short time there'll be no new motor apparatus in Lowell this year, for it is said, they can't be gotten out in the time that remains. Visitors to the auto show in Boston some time ago claim that they saw a motor fire apparatus at the show labelled "Sold to the Lowell Fire Department." As yet the apparatus hasn't made its appearance, and there's a possibility that the visitors to the show made a mistake in reading the sign. But whether the city gets any new apparatus or not the residents of the Highlands demand that the Westford street engine house be retained and kept up until replaced by another company in some other location in that district. Here's hoping that when the city does make up its mind to locate another firehouse in the Highlands it will get out of it as cheaply as did Mayor Palmer's administration of old days ago.

Thompson for Mayor.

Mr. Perry Thompson, apparently, takes mild exceptions to rumors to the effect that he was afraid of some of the other majority possibilities, and hence was undecided about announcing his own candidacy. Mr. Thompson has informed a reporter of The Sun that he has certain important business matters before him which must be attended to, and if he can attend to them satisfactorily and still take up a political contest he will do so, and further more he states that if he is a candidate he doesn't care who or how many are in the field against him.

Whiteley a Candidate.

Joseph M. Whiteley, who has previously made a good run for representative in the 17th district, will be in the field again. He has been compiling the records of the republican members from that district and intends to take the stump in the event of his nomination.

Burke Visited Lowell.

Rep. Frederick A. Burke of Lynn was one of the speakers at the recent banquet of the firemen, the democratic candidate for senator in the seventh district, which included wards five and nine.

Steel Encased Bridge.

Now that the Locks and Canals company wants a steel bridge and other want a cement bridge why not cement on a steel bridge encased in cement, such as was recently built at Fitchburg? Steel bridges are costly affairs as regards upkeep, for they have had it not attended to. But they are that steel bridges encased in cement have no expensive upkeep charges going with them.

Where Mr. Denman Scores.

It is believed that whether he gets any more money for his services Engineer Denman will at least get $2500 for his plans, for it is said that one of the stipulations in connection with the bridge was that he was to get $2500 upon the acceptance of his plans by the municipal council and that upon reading them and explaining them he turned over the plans to the council and by taking them, without protest the members accepted them.

Kick From So. Lowell.

The residents of South Lowell do not appreciate the least the work done by the park department on Riverside park and would rather the department had let alone than to have done what they have on it. A well known resident of that section says: "Instead of making it a park they have made it a mud-hole. The time has come for the park commissioners to come to life. Perhaps they are waiting for the snow to come and hide their work."

About every section in the city has grievance against the municipal council except Centralville. Wiggwagville has been crying for two years for better improvements until about campaign time it gets a few more promises; the people of the Highlands want arms over the matter of inadequate fire protection; in Pawtucketville, well everybody knows how they feel out there. In Melville they haven't protested that they were frozen out of the white war proposition while they the white war proposition in state and deplorable neglect of State park and the way conditions are at present the members of the municipal council who are to seek re-election will have their hands full trying to "square" the people of these different sections.

McIntyre For Auditor.

A special committee from the state committee of the progressives came to Lowell recently and induced Charles W. McIntyre to be the party's candidate for state auditor. Mr. McIntyre doesn't expect to win and personally the white war proposition is a candidate but "now is the time for all good men" and he consented. Sec. A. S. Goldman of the local progressive party has been circulating nomination papers for a state ticket, at the request of the state committee though Mr. Goldman didn't believe that the party would present a slate. "There is no contest, that for the head of the ticket, the contestants being W. D. Shaw, the prohibitionist and Nelson B. Clark, of Beverly, an "old line" progressive distinguished from the "prohibition-progressive." Mr. Shaw has said that unless the progressives in state convention adopt the prohibition plank he will not run as a progressive candidate and the indications are that the prohibs will see to it that the convention does make such endorsement.

COTTON REPORT

The Census Bureau Announces Consumption in U. S. During 1915.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Cotton consumption in the United States during the cotton year of 1915, which ended July 31, amounted to 5,558,793 rundles of 480,000 bales and 693,382 bales of linters.
